TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that we had the Famous Trotting Ostrich, "Whirlwind", owned by Thomas A. Cockburn, Hot Springs, Ark., to trot the three days of our Fair this year, and can candidly say that the attraction proved the best drawing card that we have ever put out, as we had the largest attendance at our fair this year that we have had in years, and we largely attribute same to this attraction. The Ostrich trotted on our half mile track and several time keepers certify that he went the quarter in 30 seconds and the half mile in one minute and five seconds. We heartily recommend the attraction to anyone seeking a genuine drawing card. H. C. BRIGHT, Sec'y & Treas.

OBSERVATIONS OF THE STROLLER

On Theatrical Life and Environment

STORIES AND ANECDOTES

Great Show In Texas.

The agent for Professor Hannibal Alexander's Great and Unexcelled Exhibition of Necromancy was trying to play the town on short notice. The ever smiling manager of the only playhouse in the little Texas hamlet did not seem over anxious to book. "The last troupe that was here," he said reminiscently, "shore did pack in that hall. He staid a hull week and he jammed 'em in ever' night."

The agent was becoming interested. "Yessiree," continued the manager, "I'll bet you fifty cents that he had fifteen hundred people in there the last night."

The agent's rising hopes began to fall. He didn't care to follow too close after a Parsifal or a Ben Hur, even with Professor Hannibal's Great and Unexcelled Exhibition of Necromancy.

"Some wus one dollar and some wus two," the manager went on, "an it wus a durn' good show, too. There wus hisself an' his wife an' a nigger that played the geetar an' mouth harp, an' another funny feller that jes' kep' hollerin 'over the river, Charley' durned nigh ever' breath."

The agent looked the bubbling old man over in disgust. "Well——? I thought you said he delivered the goods."

"Delivered the goods!" echoed the old man enthusiastically, "delivered the goods! Well I should kiss a blind pig. He delivered cars of it."

"And yet," argued the agent, "you say he charged a dollar and two dollars a seat for this show. Why—"

"Hol' on! I did not say that," expostulated the manager. "That was for the medicine he sold."

Motion Pictures Interrupt Church Service.

Perhaps it wasn't showing just the proper respect for the parishoners of St. John's Reformed Episcopal Church in Chicago, but Ned Wayburn couldn't resist the temptation to get the films for his new illustrated song with the most desirable background. So when his company of sixty people, made up to represent the principal characters of the song, filed up before the doors of the church last Sunday morning it caused quite a stir among passersby and a crowd quickly formed. Some of the actors entered the edifice where the clergyman was in the midst of his sermon, but they did not remain long. At a given signal they left summarily and in the vestibule the leading woman, decked out as a bride and leaning on the arm of a white-gloved, frock-coated groom, was seized by the villian and spirited away in an automobile. The crowd, many of whom believed the abduction to be real, cheered wildly, and the services inside the church were interrupted for fully fifteen minutes.

Very Tough On The Old Ladies.

It is well known among theatrical people that Abraham Erlanger's sanctum sanctorum is about as inaccessible as that of Pope Pius or Czar Nicholas. However, an old lady, who would never be accused of embonpoint and whose sweet sixteen has surely been multiplied by four, did not seem to be aware of this when she entered the general offices of Klaw and Erlanger in the New Amsterdam Theatre Building the other day and asked to see one of the firm. On being told that Mr. Klaw was out of the city and Mr. Erlanger was engaged she manifested much keen disappointment that the polite minion asked her if she would not state her business, whereupon the old lady brought out a huge roll of manuscript, declaring that she had clearly demonstrated in the treatise that it is positively a menace to society to allow any woman under the age of fifty, and weighing more than ninety pounds, to appear on the stage in tights or even in decollete dress. "If Mr. Erlanger will read my statement I am sure that he will not permit any woman, other than such as I have described, to appear in any of the theatres he controls."

"That might be a good thing for the public, ma'am," smiled the clerk, "but don't you think it'd be hard on the old ladies?"

Glib Application of Scripture.

One of the booking agencies on Broadway had been visited regularly for several weeks by an actor who was extremely anxious for an engagement with one of the companies that opened early. He impressed the fact on the manager the other day that if he did not obtain some kind of a place he would have to join the Fleischman crews of those unfortunates to whom sandwiches and coffee are handed out at midnight. "I think I will have something for you in a few days," said the manager of the exchange, "though I can not say positively now. Where shall I write you—at the Players' Club?"

"No," said the actor, dolefully. "I'm posted at the Players'. Write me at the Lambs'." Then, in a sudden burst of confidence, "I'm posted at the Lambs', too, but they temper the wind there."

Show Vernacular And Christian Science.

Theatrical parlance is about as unintelligible to the laity as is Greek to an unschooled American laborer. Imagine the surprise, therefore, of a party of Christian Scientists, all ladies, when upon being mistaken for actresses by a group of chorus girls were plied with such questions as: "What show are you going to join?" "When do you get away?" "He only offered me fifteen and cakes; what did he offer you?"

It all happened in the elevator of the building in which the Dixie Theatrical Exchange is located. By chance the chorus ladies encountered the occupants of the car as they alighted on the ground floor after a meeting in their parlors. Of the result we will let Mr. Greenwood, of the Exchange, tell in his own words:

"The Christian Science ladies, thinking that they had landed among a lot of Fiji Islanders, began to try to convert the chorus girls. Then the mix-up began, and when they found out that the demi-blondes all were Dixie Theatrical Exchange callers, they put up an awful howl. The next day we received a nice little note from the agent of the building notifying us that the C. S. ladies had made a kick that we were making too much noise, etc. We wrote Mr. Martin, the agent of the building, that we were not making any unnecessary noise, and doubtless the ladies were imagining that we were, and suggested that they put their faith into execution. We understand that he tendered the note to them. At any rate, since then everything has been serene. And still the chorus girls come."

Billet Doux From The Under World.

Letters written on cuffs, collars, shingles, pieces of bark, tomato can labels and the like are being daily received by James Harrigan, the tramp juggler, who is to be "starred" next season in Panhandle Pete, a play written by Willard Holcomb around George W. McManus' pictorial series of the same name in the Sunday newspaper supplements. Harrigan's curious mail comes from hobos in all parts of the country who wish him success in the role of the jovial tramp in New York. One letter, written on the inside of a greasy hatband, reads as follows:

"I didn't believe it that you was a real tramp till I seed yor pitcher pasted up, but now I know it, but I don't think your rite name are panhandle pete, cause I have met you someplace, in Philadelphia, I think, or some other kneck of the woods.

"If you ever play Podonk I will shure be on hand to see the show, even if I haf to WORK to git the price of a gallery seat. Give my regards to all the boys you happen to see along the line."

MUD HEEL McCARTHY.

HILDA SPONG

Born in England but raised in Australia, Hilda Spong comes of a family that has for many generations been identified with the theatre. Rising from a position of the best child actress in Australia to a comedienne of rare ability, Miss Spong's reputation became known in England. It was here that she made such an impression by her work that Daniel Frohman brought her to America to play the leading role in Trelawny of the Wells. Her work in this play caused her to be engaged as leading woman in the famous Lyceum Theatre Stock Co., with which organization she remained several seasons. Charles Frohman then engaged her to head his celebrated Empire Theatre company. With William Faversham in a revival of Lord and Lady Algy, she shared the honors with the star. A big hit was credited to her in Lady Huntworthy's Experiment. She next appeared as leading woman to Henry Miller in Joseph Entangled. At the Madison Square Theatre, Hilda Spong demonstrated by her characterization of Mrs. Calvert in Willis Steels' four-act comedy, The Firm of Cunningham, that she had no superior in America as a comedienne. The next season found her leading lady with William H. Crane in An American Lord. The coming season is to see her as a star under the management of Walter N. Lawrence in Harold Heaton's three-act comedy, Lady Jim, which opens in New York at Weber's Theatre.

SAN CARLO OPERA COMPANY FOR DEAR OLD NEW ORLEANS

Floating Shows of The Middle West

E. D. Price Strings a Good Job—Southern Actress Quits Rather Than Appear in Uncle Tom—Vaudeville On Trains—London Paper Advocates New Crusade.

By SCRIPTUS.

THE San Carlo Opera Company will occupy the stage of the French Opera House, New Orleans, next season. The announcement occasions great joy among the music loving denizens of the Crescent City. For several years the attractions have been of mediocre quality; but now the old days are to be revived and with Nordica, Alice Nielsen and Mme. Schuman-Heink in the company the offerings will partake of their quondam brilliance.

The French Opera House occupies a unique place in the history of American amusements. It was here that Patti made her American debut, and here the carnival balls are held. It is here that the French and the Creoles assemble during the winter months to satisfy the cravings of their music-loving souls. As New Orleans herself seems rather of another country, so the French Opera House is redolent of the people and customs of southern Europe.

The house is, of course, thoroughly French in architecture and seating arrangement.

E. D. PRICE LANDS

E. D. Price has been appointed general manager of the Interstate Amusement Company, recently incorporated in New York for the purpose of developing plays.

The selection is excellent—could scarcely have been better. Mr. Price has been identified in an executive business capacity with several of the big luminaries, including Mansfield and Carter.

When the earthquake struck San Francisco Mr. Price was managing the Alcazar Theatre, having been in that position for the past three years.

Mr. Price will be located at the Savoy Theatre, New York, after the first of September.

GOOD VIRGIN TERRITORY

There is many a ripe sugar-plum waiting to be plucked in the territory contiguous to Winnipeg, Canada. Over 40,000 American families have invaded the country between Winnipeg and Edmonton, and from Edmonton as far south as Calgary, then over the Canadian Pacific to Winnipeg.

It appears that for the most part these people have settled on the Canadian Pacific Railway between Winnipeg and Edmonton, a distance of 847 miles.

A letter addressed to this railroad, requesting advertising literature that may be used by the road brought the following reply:

The Billboard, Concinnati, O.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 2d inst. Our line west of Winnipeg is a granger proposition, and we have not considered it necessary to issue any special advertising matter that would appeal to theatrical managers.

Yours truly,

GEO. H. SHAW, Traffic Mgr.

But the mere fact that the railroad has not realized the possibilities of the territory from an amusement standpoint need not deter show managers from looking into the proposition. Little idea of the vast development of this country has gone abroad and it is doubtless ripe for theatres and traveling tent shows of the smaller sort.

FLOATING THEATRE ON RHINE

An enterprising showman of Berlin has organized an opera company to tour the towns of the Rhine. Descriptions of the floating theatre place its capacity at 2,500 people.

Such an institution is entirely unknown on the German waterway, and the manager's project constitutes a remarkable innovation. He has probably visited America and observed the custom on our rivers.

Even the American showboat is indigenous to the waters of the middle west, and it is remarkable that its popularity has not spread to other sections. The little hamlets along the banks of the Ohio and Mississippi are visited annually by a number of these quaint craft, each with its calliope, that may be heard for many miles out into the country, and so is an excellent ballyhoo. The townfolk and farmers have seen the advertisements on barn and bridge and gatepost for weeks, and with the first strains of the steam organ, labors are laid aside and a holiday is proclaimed by mutual assent. Then when the corners by the general store and postoffice have become crowded with the revelers, the blatant brass band parades the single shady street, to make the advertisement irresistible to the last degree. Of course, everybody goes, and as the admission fee is a quarter, the receipts at the little box office are not as mean as might be expected, especially considering the nominal expense of the show.

But because the performance is not expensive to be put on does not argue that it has no merit. Sometimes the show is very good, indeed, and it is inexpensive simply for the reason that the performers are participating in what is to them a delightful summer outing, with fresh air, bathing and fishing and a small salary in addition to bed and board; and all this with only one performance a day and none on Sunday. In short, such an engagement combines all the advantages and comforts of a houseboat and a congenial party, with none of its responsibilities.

BALKED ON PRINCIPLE

Miss Frances Lee, who seems to be well named, and who has been playing an engagement in stock at Nashville, Tenn., refused to go on last week in a production of Uncle Tom's Cabin. The management summarily discharged her, and thereby hangs a tale. The townspeople took issue with the indignant actress and arranged a benefit for her.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's play isn't over-popular south of Mason and Dixon's line.

VAUDEVILLE ON TRAINS

The published statements made recently by J. D. Brown, assistant passenger agent of the Erie Railroad to the effect that passengers on the fast trains of the big trunk lines will one day be entertained with vaudeville performances en route is relieved of its vapor qualities by a contemplation of the evolution and development of transportation. The canal boat has given way to the river steamer, and the stage coach has been supplanted by the railroad. Think of those first switchback, wood-burning engines on the B. and O. and New York Central lines. Imagine the discomfort, the monotony and the hardship of travel. Contrast this with oil-burning, smokeless, steam rivals of Pegasus of to-day, drawing each its hotel on wheels. Does it seem impossible that vaudeville entertainments may be provided by enterprising railroads to while away the time of the restless traveler? Everything else has been done; why not that?

From a professional point of view such an innovation would be a great advantage. Time could be booked on trains between the theatre stands, thus eliminating, practically, the expense of transportation.

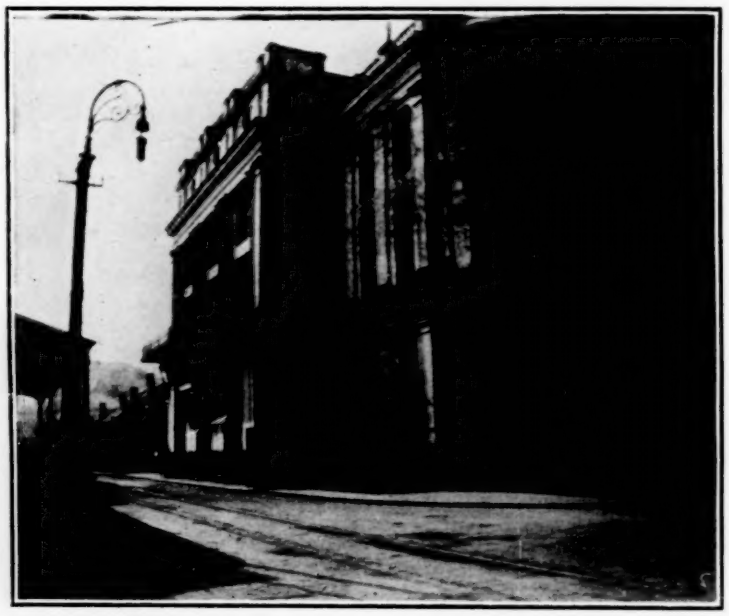
Here is a new field to be developed. Who will be the successful pioneer? With the institution of the railroad variety will come a revolution of no small dimensions.

It may be that in a short time every express train will carry a Pullman car equipped for theatricals.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

A London newspaper has suggested that the theatre managers arrange to have their request that "those who can not wait for the close of the performance leave before the last act" be thrown upon the curtain in flaring letters at the close of next to the final act. The suggestion is very appropos and worthy of more suggestion is very apropos and worthy of more whose province lies behind the curtain would welcome such an order with delight, for their best efforts are often spoiled by the hustling of those vulgarians whose only thought is to get away just in time to "escape the rush."

FRENCH OPERA HOUSE, NEW ORLEANS



The historic old Temple of Apollo will be occupied by the San Carlo Opera Co. the coming season.

EVANSVILLE, IND.

J. Foster Cooper is again assistant treasurer of the People's Theatre.

Geo. Sellinger and Col. Jack Ropke, of the Bijou, are in the city arranging for the opening of their house early next month. The Bijou has been repainted and otherwise improved.

After a three weeks' stay the Mama's Boy Co. got away July 3. The company will be reorganized and go out under a new name.

George Kratz, the calliope builder, is placing one of his instruments on the car of Busby's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co.

Plans are on foot to erect a new opera house at Princeton.

Secretary R. L. Akin is more than pleased with the prospects for the Tri-State Fair to be held here Sept. 10-14.

ATLANTA, GA.

The Grand, renovated and improved, opens Aug. 30 with Nell Burgess.

The Bijou, also improved, will open Sept. 3 with Haverly's Minstrels.

A prize of $25 in gold and a season ticket were offered by Manager J. B. Thompson for the best name for the new theatre which will be completed by Sept. 1. El Dorado was selected. The new house will seat 2,500 people and has an exceedingly large stage. Seats will be sold for ten, twenty and thirty cents.

The state fair is being extensively billed. Knabenshue seems to be the feature attraction.

Jake Wells was in the city last week looking after his new theatre in course of construction.

The recent marriage of Fay Templeton recalls the fact that the player is a native of this state and that she at one time lived in Atlanta. In fact, it may be said that she made her debut here when her father managed a theatre on south Broad street.

Walter C. Hightower, of the Aeb and Zare Vaudeville Co., and who was shot and killed recently by a policeman at Houston, Tex., was a resident of this city, where he was highly respected.

A strong line of attractions has been booked at the Grand for the coming season. The list includes Maxine Elliott, Olga Nethersole, Fritzi Scheff, Rogers Brothers, The Red Skin, Murray and Mack, Field's Minstrels, Forty-five Minutes From Broadway, Seminary Girl, Heir to the Hoorah, Jefferson Brothers, Sultan of Sulu, Sergeant Kitty, Wonderland, Johnnie Jones, Blanch Walsh, Little Duchess, Her Own Way, McIntyre and Heath, The Clansman, Arthur Dunne, Miss Bopeep, Checkers, The Squaw-Man, Otis Skinner, It Happened in Nordland, Primrose Minstrels, Isle of Spice, Frank Deshon, The Virginian, Royal Chef, Al. None of the theatres have as yet announced the date of their season's opening, but it is understood that the Burwood and Krug will open sometime this month.

Manager Van Dyke has installed some electric fans in the Bijou.

Ralph Hayward, head door-keeper at the Boyd, accompanied by his wife, has returned from a three week's pleasure trip to New York City and eastern resorts.

The Loomis Theatre & Ticket Co. is now installing its machinery in its new plant, and will soon be ready for business. It has already received contracts for many thousands of tickets, and will supply 400,000 for the Ak-Sar-Ben Carnival.

A. B. Campbell, general agent for Campbell Bros.' Shows, has been making his headquarters in this city the past week. Mr. Campbell reports his show doing a record-breaking business.

Frank Phelps, the popular treasurer of Krug's Theatre, was recently married to an estimable young lady of this city, and is kept busy receiving congratulations from his many friends.

The Venetian Carnival was a big attraction the past week at Manawa. Fireworks each night attracted large crowds.

The patrons of Krug Park have been favored with some excellent music the past week by the Girgiulo Concert and the Royal Canadian bands.

STAGE SCHOOLS

Have Risen To Importance

Brief Biography of Maude Adams—An Attractive Display—Where Accessories Are Procured.

By CADY WHALEY.

WHILE on my Vacation in the country, a girl said to me: "Is there any chance for a girl with stage ambitions in New York City? Would it be possible for her to obtain any kind of foothold? and how could she get to see the managers?" My answer was: Don't think of going to a big metropolis like New York without money or some previous stage experience, for the field is overcrowded with those who have had experience. First study, study and prepare yourself, just as you would for any other special line of work, then seize every opportunity of making a public appearance for amateur work is as near like a course of study in one of the dramatic schools as anything you can get, besides, it will help you to get your "stage legs," for until you get rid of that horrible bugbear, self-consciousness, you will not make much progress in your dramatic studies. If your ambition is to be a member of a muscial company of whatever kind, you can not expect to do anything without considerable good vocal training. At one time dramatic schools were the butt for ridicule for the successful actor, but this is no longer the case. The schools have given us too many good actors and actresses.

The instruction includes physical culture, dancing, fencing, make-up, and all the studies relating to intelligent interpretation, dramatic action, the classic and modern drama and music drama. The student matinees are not only fine experience, but they give the pupils an opportunity to be heard, for it is a well known fact that managers frequent these in search for talented students, and professional engagements are a not infrequent result. It is possible to get a hearing with the managers, but some previous good work is the best introduction, or some mutual acquaintance, otherwise you will be obliged to take your turn with the waiting list, and your opportunity will depend on the manager's needs for the productions he is contemplating at the time. But don't, I beg of you, start upon the career unless you are richly endowed by nature for the calling, for you will need even more than nature has given you, so closely allied is the physical equipment to the profession. Its your tools, and they must needs be of the very finest and best pattern, for woe to the one who is led by false ideas, whose friends have so flattered his amateur attempts that he jumps at the conclusion that he or she is a born actor, a second Booth or Ellen Terry. Also, ye gods and little fishes, deliver us from the youth who thinks: "By Jove! I am a great actor, and all I need is a stage and an audience!" As one famous actor said to his own daughter: "Why, so and so can't act." (I refrain from mentioning the name as she is one of the stars of to-day). Neither can she. She has a charming personality and an ideally beautiful face, but when the truth is told, she is never any certain character, but always herself, helped out by a wealth of pretty clothes and a fascinating individuality. So, I would say to any stage aspirant, be sure you have the God-given talent before you inflict yourself on a patient and long-suffering public.

If you hail from anywhere west of New York State, the average New Yorker seems to rather expect you to yell like an Indian, and he eyes you suspiciously with a self-complacent amused air, as though he expected when you turned around to see the feathers peeping out somewhere; in fact, that you are crude and uninitiated into "our advanced ways," he presupposes. As for example, a young woman from the middle west, armed with a good letter of introduction, called on one of the Broadway managers recently. He received her cordially and chatted pleasantly, but could not resist a little fling at the west. He said: "You know, Miss A————? Well, she called on me the other day. Do you know, she is a most charming girl, but she has one of those awful western voices." As Miss Middle West has a beautifully cultivated voice, she was more amused than hurt.

MAUDE ADAMS' CAREER

Maude Adams endeared herself to our hearts with added intensity the past season as Peter Pan, who wished to live in "Never, Never Land," so he would not grow up. She has left us another portrayal so artistic and so decidedly a Maude Adams character, that it will always remain in memory as vividly as any portrait painted by a great artist. That she was born in Salt Lake City, not so very many years ago, is not unfamiliar to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing in a stock company there. Maude joined E. H. Sothern's Midnight Bell when only sixteen years of age. Afterwards she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Co., and later supported John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as Lady Babbie in The Little Minister; Juliet, in Romeo and Juliet; the Duc de Reichstadt, in L'Aiglon, and Miss Phoebe, in Quality Street, are each a favorite role with theatregoers, according to individual taste or the characterization that most appeals to one; for we like what we like, there's no getting away from that fact.

AN ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY

Some pretty French models displayed by Aitken and Company are attractive for stage dresses, and (as a buyer told me) are a fad this season for stage effects. Made up over two of three shades of the same color in the linings, this gives that peculiar iridescent effect. One, a spangled black net, was built over blue silk, veiled with blue chiffon en train, with wide girdle of the jet, white chiffon finishing the low bodice and short sleeves.

ALICE NIELSEN

Of the San Carlo Opera Co.

Another was a white net spangled with silver made over white taffeta veiled with chiffon, trained, decolete, short sleeves, white Dresden ribbon belt. Still another is a house gown of white organdie over pink India silk, pointed opening at throat, three-quarter sleeves with an Empire effect given by a wide ping sash. There is a navy blue chiffon veiling a la Princess, built over lighter blue silk with many tiny ruffles edged with black velvet ribbon, finished with a yoke of Irish lace and ruffles of the same lace on elbow sleeves. A narrow black and white striped taffeta is made Empire style, a wide circular ruffle at bottom has folds of the material piped with black satin and laid in a Grecian border. Embroidered net finishes the waist in a chemoisette effect and the sleeves, to which were added tiny green chiffon bows. A purple chiffon cloth has a tunic effect of plaitings of silk of identically the same tone. A Directoire coat, embroidered vest, the finishing touch given by tiny lavender chiffon ruffles.

WHERE ACCESSORIES ARE PROCURED

Miss Francesca Flexner, the intelligent assistant at The VanHorn Costume Company, in speaking of the quantities of stuffs imported, said: "Armor is made principally in Munich and Berlin. These cities are the greatest importing ports for all heavy accoutrements, while France and Paris are superior in the manufacture of jewelry. All the paste imitations (and these require as much skill as the real jewels) are of Parisian make. All the ornaments in gilt and plated stuffs, the French excel in. The large quantities of German silver articles we import direct from the large German ports; in fact, we buy in all the markets of the world. The Japanese stuffs we buy largely in San Francisco, as it reaches there direct from Japan. Exquisite new silk materials we buy by the bulk, as well as large rolls of Canton crepe, mostly black and white. The beautiful Japanese kimonas used on the stage, the hand-embroidered dressing gowns used by fashionable ladies, the embroidered matinees, all varieties of dainty Japanese silks and Japanese costumes are imported direct from that country. In fact, our materials are largely importations."

The weather continues fine and with excellent attractions all of the summer amusement places are drawing fine crowds.

J. J. Rosenthal is in New York. Nelson Trowbridge is looking after his local interests.

Hans and Nix was the attraction at the Casino last week and the box office record came near being shattered. Bessie Lucier carried off the honors with an act something like Eva Tanguay's.

VanGofre and Cotrely headed the bill at Walbridge, where big attendance is the rule.

Quartets may come and quartets may go, but the equal of the Americus Comedy Four at the Farm this week has not been seen in Toledo this season. To describe the act as one long scream is about the only way that a description can be given of the turn.

He studied for a legal career, but when the Academy of Music opened in Parkersburg he was installed as treasurer, and soon afterwards he became the lessee and manager, a position which he held for six years. Mr. Van Winkle was also interested in a number of road shows. He always acted as his own press agent. Death resulted from heart disease. Englander had been stage manager at Fischer's for the past year.

MAUDE ADAMS

Miss Adams appears above in the character of Peter Pan, the fantastical conception of J. M. Barrie, which had such a phenomenal run at the Empire Theatre, New York, last season, and in which the beloved actress will be seen again the coming season. Anent the close of the attraction, The Billboard said in the issue of June 16:

"That the dramatic taste of New York theatregoers has not been vitiated to the degree that some of our critics would have us believe, is evidenced by a very substantial argument that had its climax in the Empire Theatre on the night that Maude Adams closed her engagement in J. M. Barrie's fantastical Peter Pan. For long months the auditorium has been crowded at every performance, and the generous applause has ever had a quality of spontaneity and unrestrainedness that must have been delightful to the deserving star as well as to her managers.

"At the last performance, June 9, the audience fairly rose to the glowing and happy actress. That audience was made up of Metropolitan frequenters of the theatre. A large majority of them had seen the performance before, and now they were returned to express their appreciation of the offering in a fitting farewell.

"It was a tribute to art."

BOSTON THEATRES PUT ON THEIR WINTER ATTRACTIONS

This With the Weather at Boiling Point

But They All Do Good Business Nevertheless, and The Early Openings Will No Doubt Be Continued as a Regular Custom in The Future—Notes of The Week.

ALTHOUGH we are now having the hottest weather of the summer, announcements are being made of the opening of many of the Boston Theatres this month, and on Saturday evening last the Grand Opera House, as usual the first in the field, started its season of 1906-7 with A. H. Wood's stirring melodrama, Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl. The Boston, Tremont, Lyceum, Howard, Columbia and Globe will open this month, and the Hollis, Colonial and Majestic will start in on Labor Day.

The Grand Opera House was literally jammed on its opening night, and Theodore Kremer's thriller made a sensation. It has been sumptuously staged and the cast is perfectly balanced. Edith Browning is proving her ability in the title role, and she is ably assisted by Leona Francis and W. A. Tully. Capacity all the week. Next week, Howard Hall in The Millionaire Detective.

The next offering at the Globe will be The Gay Lord Quex.

Martha is being sung this week at the Castle Square, and this pretty opera is proving itself to be one of the most popular that this company has put on. Mary Carrington has the name part, and her sweet voice was never better than now. Big business. Next week, Fra Diavolo.

An exceptionally fine bill is on at Keith's this week and at the top is The Zingari Troupe, a mixed organization of vocalists. There are eight members in the troupe, five women and three men, and they present a clever bit of gipsy life. Others on the bill are The Four Everetts, sensational acrobats; Dixon & Anger, German comedians; Clifford and Burke, blackface comedians; Estelle Wordette and Company in a clever skit; Ray Cox, comedienne; Ben Beyer, bicyclist; Donat Bedini, with acrobatic dog; Malvernne and Thomas, dancers; Morton, Temple and Morton, comedy sketch, and the Fadette's Woman's Orchestra. Excellent houses all week.

An all-star colored constellation, called Darkies from the South, is the big feature at Austin and Stone's Museum this week, and it is making good in great shape. John Smith, Pearl LaRose and The Moxleys lead the bunch. Good business.

The free attractions at Wonderland Park, Revere Beach, grow more sensational each week, and two or three real topliners are always on the bill. This week the thrilling act that is drawing crowds is the Dip of Death, performed by Mlle. Loubet, of France. Every afternoon and evening she rides a large automobile down a steep and narrow incline and then guides its flight around the tanbark surrounding the grand lagoon. The high class equestrian act of the Sisters Carre is making a big hit, and the clever work of Fritz Bene and the two parachute drops fill out a program that is well worth while. The little auto boats that have been put in the grand lagoon are making a strong bid for popularity and many merry parties skim over the clear sheet of water. All the shows are doing big business and everybody is prosperous "down at Wonderland."

Manager Dodge, of Paragon Park, has a sense of humor that is being greatly appreciated by patrons of his perfect little resort. Last week he conceived the idea that tub races in the lagoon would prove attractive and he installed them with great success. They went so well that he tried a new one that caused more hearty laughter than this park has ever heard at one time. He took one of the wild pelicans from Bostock's Animal Arena and placed it in the lagoon, and offered some of the boys around the park five dollars if they could "catch the pelican." It was a merry chase and is now one of the daily features. Among the free entertainers this week are Will Hill, the high wire artist; Belle Blanche, slide for life; Prof. Darling and his trained ponies; H. F. Blaney and Johnnie McGuire. Big crowds every afternoon and evening.

The past week has been the best yet seen by both Lexington Park and Norumbega, and the delightful trolley trips that these two resorts offer the people of Boston and vicinity have appealed to the crowds. The vaudeville show at Lexington this week includes Lambert, Ten Brooke and Company. The Musical Kerseys, Wentworth and Vesta, Boyce and Black and the Komograph. At Norumbega Hallen and Fuller head the bill, with Chester Johnstone, the bicyclist, a close second. Bellman and Moore, Jennings and Renfrew and others are also on the program.

Louis Mann and Clara Lipman will open the Majestic on Labor Day in Julie Bon Bon.

The list of plays to be presented by the Castle Square Stock Company during the next dramatic season, which opens on September 3, has been completed, and among them are several Henry Irving versions that have just been released. The company this year will include Julia Dean, Howell Hansel, Edward Wade, Mark Kent and Leonora Bradley.

The Dainty Paree Burlesquers will open the regular season at the Lyceum on August 20. Harry LaMarr is a member of the company.

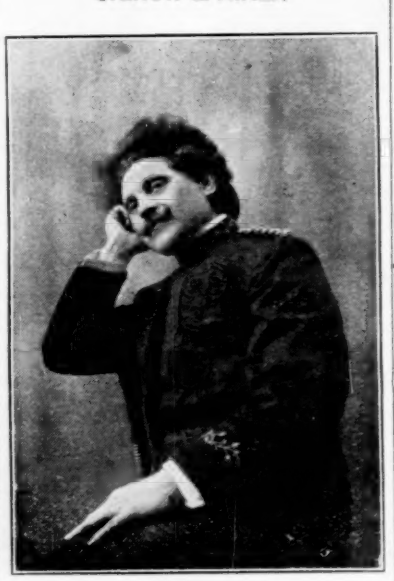
A. H. Holmes, formerly with Frohman's Mizpah, Klaw and Erlanger's Pearl and the Pumpkin, the original Filibuster Company, and several other theatrical organizations, is now holding forth for himself in the tobacco business on Amesbury street, Lawrence, Mass. He says the stage is O. K., but there is nothing like being your own boss. He welcomes all old friends who may happen to be in town.

Sandy Chapman is to have an important role in Hap Ward's new show, Not Yet, But Soon.

COURTNEY AND JEANETTE

They are jugglers a la comedie and have one of the best balanced acts in vaudeville.

SIGNOR G. AIALA



He is the musical director of the Royal Artillery Band, which is so great an attraction at River View Park, Baltimore. Signor Aiala is thirty-four years of age and a thorough musician. He is graduate of the Musical Conservatory of Naples.

Arthur Row, a Tufts College man, will shortly re-enter vaudeville with a new line of imitations. Row has a very clever act.

David L. Robinson, the new manager of the Orpheum, has already begun his duties there.

Charles J. Rich, of the Hollis, has just returned from a long automobile tour through the White Mountains.

Sato, the Boston boy, who has made a sensation as a dancer, has joined Bob Manchester's company.

The one hundredth performance of the Man from Now will be celebrated at the Tremont on August 23. Appropriate souvenirs will be given away.

Edward E. Smith, manager of the Majestic, has just returned from New York, where he has been spending the past week consulting with the Shuberts about the plans for this house this season.

Berry Thompson, Annie Carter, and Edith Randall are new additions to the Palace Stock Company this week, and they add much beauty and winsomeness to the organization.

Last Friday evening was Theatrical Night at the Amateur Circus, given by the Winthrope Yacht Club, and Richard Carle was ringmaster. It was a jolly occasion.

Bessie Dunn, Ettie Drew and Bertha Montclair have joined the Man from Now Company.

The theatrical colony that is summering at Siasconset held a golf tourney last week, in which Digby Bell was the leading spirit. Others who played were Robert Hilliard, Bertha Galland, Percy Haswell, W. H. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Bronson Howard.

The latest sensational act that has been added to Kennedy's Wild West Show at Wonderland is that of Miss Annie Shaffer, of Oklahoma. She is one of the most daring equestriennes and broncho busters in the business.

Leah Winslow, who joined the John Craig Stock this week at the Globe, has signed for next season with Keith's Pawtucket house.

Will Hill, who has been the leading feature all this season at Paragon Park, has been presented a handsome solid gold medal as "the champion high wire walker of the world."

Miss Julia Dean, last season the leading woman of Hunter & Bradford's New York Players, has been selected as leading lady for the coming dramatic season at the Castle Square. Miss Dean has been a member of the companies of Nat Goodwin, Maxine Elliott, Modjeska and of several stock companies.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Everything points to an auspicious opening of the theatrical season in Milwaukee. Without exception the theatres have undergone extensive renovations during the summer months and when they re-open their patrons will hardly recognize them in their newness. The Shuberts will re-open their playhouse on Aug. 26, with Brown of Harvard, an attraction entirely new to theatre-goers in the Cream City. While efforts on the part of the Shuberts to obtain an arcade entrance to their house from Wisconsin Street, the city's main thoroughfare east of the river, have failed, this theatre undoubtedly will continue to draw the same high-class patronage that it has since coming under control of the Independents.

The Brown-Baker Co., which has held forth in an excellent line of summer stock at the Davidson, playing to full houses at all times, will remain until Sept. 1.

With The Time, the Place and the Girl, the Alhambra opens Saturday, Aug. 11. This theatre has been remodeled and is practically a new house. It will continue to play breezy, popular attractions at popular prices.

The Star Theatre, Milwaukee's only burlesque house, opens Aug. 11 with The Brigadiers, Manager Trottman expects this coming season to be the banner one of all. This theatre has undergone many minor changes.

Across the Pacific, will open the season at Milwaukee,'s home of melodroma, the Bijou, on Aug. 26.

The Crystal re-opens on Sept. 2 with high-class vaudeville and the Grand and Wonderland theatres open at the same time with vaudeville and motion pictures.

The Pabst Theatre will open early in September.

Milwaukeeans while still patronizing the parks are tiring of this form of amusement and are anxiously awaiting the opening of the theatres.

ANTIPODES

Overrun With Moving Picture Shows

Altogether The Season in Australia Has Been Successful From Both a Financial and An Artistic Standpoint.

Post Office, Queen Victoria Mkts,
Sydney, N. S. W., July 11, 1906.

ONCE again the time has come round to let the readers of The Billboard have some news from the antipodes, and it is with feelings of pleasure that I sit down to my machine and work off a bit of news for you.

Moving picture machines are all the rage here at the present time, and there are at the time of writing this letter no less than six theatres showing them in this city. One exclusively, and one nearly all pictures. The 'Frisco Quake has been the means of drawing the dollars into many a struggling show in the moving picture business, aptly illustrating the old adage, "'Tis an ill wind that blows no one good." To a native-born American, like the writer, and an experienced commercial traveler, it has been very amusing to see the duty that the Montreal and Baltimore fire films have done for the great 'Frisco Quake, and yet I am glad to say that there are at least six sets in this city that do give an altogether too vivid description of the fate that has fallen on the fair city of the Occident. Well, Phoenix-like, she will rise from her ashes and be more fair than ever. The writer, who was at Chicago, and also at Boston, and saw the great fires at both of these cities, has also seen the good effects on both of these cities, and while the dose is an heroic one, still the old saw above quoted still holds good.

THEATRE ROYAL

Mr. Bland Holt and his company will occupy the boards of this theatre for a long time to come, and they are still producing In Sight of St. Paul's, but it is to give way on Saturday next, 14, to With Flying Colors. It would do the play-loving public of the United States good to witness some of the productions of this theatre, and then I think that they would go home firmly convinced that there were other countries that are not too slow in some matters, even if they had not yet discovered that they were alive.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt are as a rule cast for the fun making parts, and to see Mr. Bland Holt come down the stage with that inimitable smile of his is quite enough to make a stoic laugh, even were he at his wife's funeral. Good luck to them both and the genial manager, Mr. Christie Simonson, who looks well after his patrons in front of the house. Mr. Holt has numerous friends in God's own country, and they will be pleased to learn that both he and his charming wife are well and doing well.

CRITERION THEATRE

Czerny, the Mysterious, has been holding forth at this theatre for the past three weeks, and to what I regret to say has been only fair business. He deserves better treatment, as he gives a good clean show and has a fine stage presence. While he is a good all-round performer, he does not show anything very startling or new, but is more after the style of Prof. Anderson. I do not mean to infer that he does not give a good show, for he does so most decidedly, and while his tricks are not new to the writer, there is not a shadow of a doubt but what he does his tricks with a neatness and dexterity that takes long and arduous practice. His show relies more on the mechanical than on that which requires dextrous palming and misleading patter. The whole show is under Mr. William Anderson's management, with Mr. George Marlow, business manager, and Mr. Talbot, treasurer. Their season closes at this theatre on the 13th, and then they go to Newcastle for a short season, thence to Melbourne. The very best wishes of the writer go with them for success.

PALACE THEATRE

Spencer's American Theatrescope Company are at this theatre and have been as happy as sand flies looking after the dollars that have been pouring into his coffers. He is just picking up money, like persimmons after a hard blow. He has a full set of Edison's Quake films, and while they are in a measure good, it looks as if the operators kept as far away from falling walls as possible, compared to some of the films of other makes that are at the present time being shown. Mr. Spencer's season will hold for some two or three weeks longer, and then what his movements will be I cannot state, as he informed me that he had not quite decided on what way he would go.

LYCEUM HALL

Right opposite the Palace Theatre stands the Lyceum Hall. It was at this place of amusement that Mr. Spencer held his entertainments on his two previous visits, but which was refused him this trip on account of exceptions being taken to some of the films that were shown, in which the doings of persons under the influence of drink were shown. This hall is owned by Mr. E. Vickery, an enormously wealthy person in this city, and who arrived just about the time of the quake in 'Frisco, and I guess if he ever thought the Angel Gabriel was blowing his toot horn, was about the time he and his bride were getting shaken up in 'Frisco, and he must have thought the Day of Judgment had come. At any rate, he will be able to do as he likes at this hall, as it is his own, but he can not cut it too fine or he will have the pleasure of keeping it shut except for the religious cranks that hold forth there, who suck cold tea and wear long faces, and look as if their mother-in-law had come to spend a year with them.

Mr. W. J. Macdermot's New Zealand Biograph Company moved from the Centenary Hall to make way for the Fisk Jubilee Singers, and they have been doing very good business with the San Francisco 'Quake Pictures and Prof. Scott, ventriloquist, magician and general all-around entertainer. Prof. Scott is as fine a ventriloquist as I ever heard, and reminded me of Teddy Davis in his best days, and as he is a very young man, he should make his name well known in all parts of the world. He is, I am informed, a native of New Zealand.

Messrs. Macdermot have a fine set of the films made by the Vitagraph Co., and have a good machine, with an intelligent man behind it. As the writer has had a good training with picture machines of all makes, he can fully appreciate the value of a good operator, who knows how to keep his light up to the mark, pictures sharp and well defined, and, above all, one that does not try to see in what is the shortest time he can get his pictures through the machine, regardless of its effect on the eyes of his audience or the comments of the public.

CENTENARY HALL

This hall, also owned by a religious body, the Wesleyan Methodist Church, is at present occupied by what was at one time a very strong combination of musical artists, The Fisk Jubilee Singers, and their thaumaturgic display of living pictures. They are the artists of the original McAdoo Troupe of Jubilee Singers, but there are only six artists now where there were more than double the number. Prof. Whyte, musical director; R. Collins, business manager, and Miss Bella Gibbons, female baritone, are all of the original artists that are left, but there are two others besides the moving picture operator, Mr. E. Higgins, with Fred Dawson in advance. Business has been good with them, and they seem to do all right here on each and every visit. Their show is clean, and one that takes with the masses.

ATHANEUM HALL

This hall is also run as a moving picture entertainment, and while I have never paid a visit to them, it has been my own fault that I have not seen them. It is my intention to do so at an early date, as I have it from personal friends that they give a good clean show, and as good a value for the "nimble bob" (25 cents) as the other houses do for a lot more money; and as it is the only place of amusement that is situated on the main thoroughfare, George street, they get a lot of the ever-moving throng. Mr. Charles Morton is in front of the house, and I notice that he is to branch out into vaudeville from and after the 12th of this month. Shall have more to say of this show in the future.

RICKARD'S TIVOLI THEATRE

Good wine they say needs no bush. Well, what can I say of this theatre, except that if you want a seat you must get a move on you and be down at the doors a good long time before the curtain goes up, and as there is no eating peanuts in this part of the world, like there is in the States, all you can do is to sit and squeeze your best girl's hand, or else bring a novel and sit it out like a toff. The headliner at this theatre at the present time is Brinn, who arrived here by the S. S. Sonoma, the first American mail steamer to arrive in this port from San Francisco since the 'quake. He is a very strong man, and does a turn with a cannon shot, conical shot and cannons mounted and fired when balanced on his chin. No doubt he has been seen in the States. Little Cliff is without doubt one of the most finished artists (14 years old) that it has ever been my lot to behold, and I say that if he is not spoiled by the women folks he will make his mark, but they all want to fondle and cuddle him, and he is getting a big boy now. Miss Lilleth Leyton, supported by Mr. Harry Kendal, in the latest London success, Photographed or Married; Larola, the man with the funny ways; Blake and Granby, in an English farcical sketch, He, She and It; Mr. George Bently, comedian; Miss Nita Leete, the wife of Mr. J. C. Leete, the well-known and genial business manager for his brother, Mr. Harry Rickards, in illustrated songs. And here let me suggest that publishers send this artist a copy of such songs as they wish advertised, as Mr. Leete informed me that any publisher that would send a set of slides and copy of the words and music, he would give them their advertising all over these states free, and that would mean a lot to them. Miss Maud Fanning, in Jacksonville, assisted by twelve Tivoli ballarinas; Warner Sisters, and Tom Dawson, make up a strong bill for the second part, while in the first part of the show there are at least ten turns and the grand finale. On Saturday next, the 14th, Vasco, the Mad Musician, and also Alexandre & Bertie, new and novel entertainers, will make their first bow to a Sydney audience at the matinee. With Mr. and Mrs. Rickards, Miss Rickards and Mr. Joseph Larkin at home engaging new talent all the time, and all the best and latest novelties that can be secured for his theatres, it has made it most difficult to keep the standard up to what he set for himself, and the patrons of his theatre have got so that they expect "all-star" turns or else they call the artist off soon. There is no one to blame for this, but the "boss."

Grandpa's Little Boy is fine and well. I refer to Master Harry Rickards Maas, while Mr. Maas smiles all over when I ask after the boy. Well, I hope to introduce him to The Billboard readers some day.

THE HAYMARKET HIPPODROME

This house has a large clientele from the working classes and they seem to be so well pleased with themselves that I judge Mr. E. I. Cole, the proprietor, is satisfied with what he is doing, and while I have never been present at a performance, I must go some day and have a look at them. As all of his artists have but a local reputation, I refrain from making any comments on them.

At Her Majesty's Theatre, The Royal Comic Opera Co. closed on July 6. Little Michus and Mr. William Collier and his company opened on 7, in On the Quiet, to capacity.

Bostock and Wombwell's Circus opened in Prince Alfred Park on the 7th, and will remain for a three weeks' season. Will note their show in my next.

Miss Minnie Tittle Brune opens at Her Majesty's Theatre on Aug. 4, in Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall. After her season at this theatre, a tour through New Zealand follows.

Miss Marie Narelle, the Australian songstress, has been giving a series of concerts at the Town Tall of this city, and makes her farewell appearances on the 13th and 14th of this month. Business phenomenal. It is my fault that so far I have not paid her a visit, but then I shall do so before she leaves these shores.

Mr. J. C. Williamson has just effected a renewal, for a number of years, with Mr. George Edwardes, whereby he has the first option on all plays produced by the latter.

Mr. John F. Sheridan is working northwards for Brisbane, and his season at Newcastle was most successful. Johnnie is an American, but is "not playing chanies" now with them. Fun on the Bristol brought Johnnie out here, and how he has piled up the dollars. Got some to lend if the security is O. K.

At Her Majesty's Theatre, Melbourne, The Squaw-Man was produced for the first time by the New American Company, July 7. Mr. Waldron, who plays the part of the hero comes in for a great mead of praise, and Miss Ola Jane Humphrey, it is stated, created a real furore.

At the Princess Theatre, Melbourne, Messrs. Willoughby & Ward's Company, in The Man from Mexico, are breaking all records; while at the Theatre Royal, Mr. William Anderson's Dramatic Company presented a new play from the Adelphi, London, The Assassin, a drama of Russian life. Business large.

Many changes at Mr. Rickard's Opera House took place and Miss Nellie Kelburn made her reappearance after several years.

Mr. Lemaire's organ recital attracted large audiences. Mr. Lemaire is from the United States, but is an Englishman by birth and education. He has been out here before, to play the largest organ in the world, in the Town Hall, at Sydney, N. S. W.

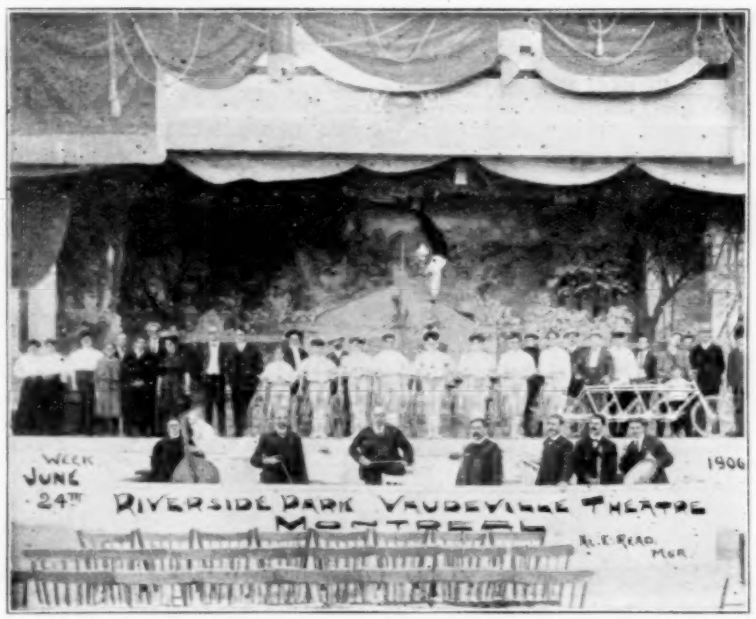
A CANADIAN ENTERPRISE

Those familiar with the success that has attended C. W. Bennett's management of the Bennett Theatre in London, Can., are not surprised to find with what rapidity the Bennett enterprises have grown. One good feature of the Bennett houses for performers is that there is no Sunday work and another good feature is the good treatment that every one receives from the local managers as well as from Mr. Bennett.

Bennett's Theatrical Enterprises, Ltd., control Bennett's Theatre, London; Bennett's Theatre, Hamilton; Bennett's Theatre, Ottawa, and Bennett's Theatre, Montreal. The main offices are located at London. These are all enviable locations, and offer performers opportunity to break long jumps between the east and the west. These houses are all being improved and altogether they represent an investment of half a million dollars.

Watch Bennett grow.

INTERIOR OF RIVERSIDE PARK THEATRE, MONTREAL, CAN.



The above represents the stage of the Riverside Park Vaudeville Theatre at Montreal, Can., and the performers that appeared there week of June 24. Reading from left to right the performers are the Rappo Sisters, Bowers, Walters and Crocker, the Jackson Family, Sadi Alfarabi and the LaNole Brothers.

OLD THEATRE BEING REMODELED

The old Hibbard Opera House at Jackson, Mich., is being rebuilt and when it is opened about Oct. 1, by W. S. Butterfield it will be known as the Bijou. It will seat about 900 people; will have a parquette, balcony and two boxes. The stage will be 32x30 and there will be eight dressing-rooms. Booking will be made by the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association. The present Bijou on Main street will open Aug. 20 and will continue until the new house is completed.

MURPHY AGAIN MANAGER

Charles H. Myers has leased the Nolan Theatre, Toronto, Ohio, and has installed as manager C. M. Murphy, who has held that position for the past three seasons. Frank Myers will be treasurer.

The Nolan is being repapered and repainted, and bookings are being made.

THEATRE MANAGER RETIRES

J. C. Cutler has resigned as manager of the Main Street Theatre, Peoria, Ill., and will embark in the coal business in St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. Cutler made a very successful manager and was well liked. He is succeeded by Frank Webster, of Kansas City.

Moons Made To Order While You Wait

Phenomena Cause Discussion in Cincinnati—Suggested That There Is a Woman In The Case—Sidelights On Show Gossip In Cincinnati—Theatres Open.

THEATRICAL themes run in cycles. In the drama it is the golden west, while in musical comedy the silvery moon is popular. With whatever degree of levity we took the song they used to sing about the Man In the Moon, must of us have come to consider that there is really something in old Luna after all, but probably we won't all agree that it is a man. The Cincinnati Fall Festival will have the Blue Moon which the Shuberts will afterwards put on the road. We are promised a new one, entitled The Moon Man, and Charles Frohman will give us The Third Moon.

They say that the moon is in alliance with Cupid, but why is our neighbor considered masculine? Why not feminine? History and astronomy are practically silent. Out in Indiana they used to sing a song about the moon being fair along the Wabash. We think that the word fair is more often used as a compliment to femininity, but we may be wrong. However, the Hoosiers have quit singing about this particular moon and probably it was only one of George Ade's pipes. At least, it is strange that her lunar majesty was not embalmed in poetry long ago.

Last year they sang a song about the moon having his eyes on some one, but that was probably only a bluff, and we won't consider the writer of that song competent to testify as to whether the watcher was masculine or feminine. Kentuckians long time ago sang about the moon shining bright on the old home and here the moon was intimated to be of neuter gender.

There are only about two people in Cincinnati that seem to know very much about Luna. They are Scott Small, the versatile publicity promoter of Coney, and J. J. Weaver, the successful manager of the Lagoon. Scott has annexed the moon and appropriated all of his, her or its, as the case may be, light to the Coney boat rides. John has become angry and claims all this additional attractiveness for the Lagoon, because he says the moon first shone on the ancient Kentucky domicile, and that he never heard of a Buckeye moon being celebrated in song or story.

But we have a Buckeye moon and we know a few things from observation. We know that right here in Cincinnati where the lid is down tight our moon often gets full, that this self same moon stays out all night and that he, she or it changes its quarters quite frequently. But we know of some ladies, and a few gentlemen who stay out all night, get full, etc., and this sheds no light upon the subject. Looks like the moon possessed the powers of being what it pleased, in which case it would have dropped a tip to Lady Macbeth and saved her lots of wishing.

Why the moon should be blue is beyond comprehension. If the old reprobate manages to get in regular every morning and to dodge all breach of promise suits there is no obvious reason why it should be blue. This Third Moon is also a mystery. Probably this is the woman in the case, in which event the moon we see in Cincinnati is masculine and the one they used to see along the Wabash is really a fair feminine. At least, it is a most complicated affair, and it is probably best not to pry into these secrets any further. But it does look like somebody should clarify the mystery now that it has become a theatrical case.

At the World's Mercy, Owen Davis' new play, opened Heuck's this week and proved itself one of the very best melodramas that has ever come over the popular priced circuit. It is an elaborate production well presented. In construction it is well balanced, being composed of alternate layers of comedy, pathos and thrills. The plot thickens only to blend into comedy which is superseded at intervals with pathos—altogether forming as smooth and interesting an entertainment as the dramatist could wish to conceive. The cast is considerably above the average. Forest Stanley and Mae Joyce carry the leading parts well, while Edwin Fox and Alice Meredith get as many hisses. Joe and Nellie Doner assist in the comedy and put on their specialty. Tom San Van, the Jew, Jean Rowley, John R. Cumpson, Paul Scott, Charles Hodges, Frank Burns and Anna Ward are all well cast. Willie and Helen Sheedy, children, exhibit a precocity that makes them immediately popular.

For its second week's attraction Heck's will present another headliner, As Told In the Hills, which is said to be one of Stair & Havlin's best carsd. It is a brand new production.

People's open Aug. 11 with Miner's Bohemian Burlesquers, the girly girly show that is said to be replete with novelties. In it we are promised a new style of bathing costume and the latest wrinkle in tights, but tights are not supposed to have wrinkles.

Pauline Hall leads the Chester Park Opera Co. next week in Dorcas, and Grace Cameron follows in The Telephone Girl, the closing bill of the summer opera season.

Mr. Davidson has succeeded Charles Fulton as tenor of the Chester Park opera contingent. Mr. Fulton going to New York to prepare for the coming season.

The Grand opens Sept. 2 with the Dockstader Minstrels, and Elsie Janis comes the second week.

We are glad that W. S. Cleveland, the well-known vaudeville manager, will occupy the managerial chair at the new Olympic.

Stage Manager Charley Mack, of People's has returned from his summer vacation at Atlantic City.

Lorenz Hagenbeck spent Sunday with Sol. Stephen of the Zoo.

Rivela's Band is a popular success at the Zoo.

Coney is doing well—also its moonlight, thank you.

Amorita showed off J. K. Murray and Clara Lane and the old Chester favorites to advantage. Keep your eyes on Lillian McIntyre, the Cincinnati girl of this company. Lillian is getting lots of notices, but then she deserves them.

Hamilton County Fair, Aug. 14-17. Something doing every day.

R. A. Mansfield, America's young romantic actor, stopped over in Cincinnati this week en route to Chicago for rehearsals. The Mansfield Co. will play the Klaw & Erlanger Southern Circuit this winter. IDEZ O'MARCH.

Cincinnati, Ohio.

PLANS WINTER CIRCUIT

If the plans of T. L. Galloway, president of the Rink Amusement & Construction Co., do not miscarry, there will be established in Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and possibly a few other large cities in Texas a circuit of Winter Palaces that will feature roller skating and concession features of all kinds. It is said that work has already started in San Antonio and the business men of Houston are being interested in the local proposition.

The main feature of the Palace will be an immense roller skating rink 250x100 feet. This will occupy the second floor. The first floor will be taken up by concessions which prove the most suitable.

OPENED SEYMOUR HOUSE

The Myrtle Vinton Co. opened its season as well as that of the Lowery Opera House, Seymour, Ia., Aug. 9. This attraction will play only one-night stands, except fair dates, and will tour part of the same territory as last season. M. A. Ackerman is in advance. The cast includes Myrtle Vinton, Vivian Bulmer, Goldie Correll, Mrs. Geo. Childs, John T. Campbell, Arthur N. Galen, Geo. A. Childs, D. W. James, Mareus Wesley, Milton Scoles and H. P. Bulmer.

LEAKE WILL OPEN NEW THEATRE

Frank Leake, whose stock company is playing a summer engagement at Washington Park, El Paso, Tex., has decided to keep that attraction in El Paso this winter and to organize another company to go to the City of Mexico. To this end Mr. Leake has secured the old Bijou and adjoining buildings, and will practically erect a new theatre.

Meanwhile the two new theatres in El Paso, Crawford's and the Texas Street Theatre, are progressing nicely.

By WALTER K. HILL.

CONEY ISLAND came into its own on Sunday, Aug. 5, and again on Monday and Tuesday. In fact, the entire week which started a mighty throng of more thousands than Coney Island has ever known on Sunday resulted in a period of great prosperity for the cosmopolitan city by the sea. For the seven Sundays preceding Aug. 5, rain had poured down in torrents almost continuously, spoiling every hope for the crowd and keeping away the thousands which would have gone down by the sea to swell the coffers of Coney Island's residential amusement purveyors. As a result, Coney Island has thus far had a bad season, the rain on Sundays dissipating the early hope for an excellent promise of a period of great prosperity. However, on Sunday, Aug. 5, St. Swithin failed to put his water-wagon in operation, and, as a result, the biggest crowd of this or any other season spent the day at Coney Island and a great majority of them slept on the sands at night; for the heat in the city was almost intolerable. Monday was the hottest day of the year and again the throng flocked the island.

With only a few weeks remaining of the regular season, Coney Islanders, while ready to make the most of every intervening opportunity, are looking forward to an anticipated special harvest from Sept. 17-22, when the Annual Fall Festival and Mardi Gras will be held. For this event preparations have been going on practically all summer. Herbert A. Bradwell, the inventive genius of Coney Island, has spent all his spare time for several weeks in designing and superintending the manufacture of ornate floats of the exceedingly novel design to be used in the Mardi Gras period. It is to this street pageant that Coney Islanders are looking forward in special anticipation.

Of the Bradwell fleet of fantastic floats there will be in all sixteen. Twelve of these will be used to carry out the Prince of Plenty idea, while the other four will be constructed on the lessons taught in certain nursery rhymes. In order to have the spectators obtain the desired effect Mr. Bradwell will have over 1,000 men, women and children carrying out certain parts. All will be dressed in fitting costumes, and will add materially in displaying the floats.

A special feature of the parade will be an automobile section, and there will be liberal cash prizes for the most novel and handsomely decorated machines. This feature is bound to prove a most popular innovation, and should be the means of attracting hundreds of automobile enthusiasts to the festival. A number of other features are planned, but the exact nature of these has not been made public. However, the different committees are hard at work and there is every promise that the coming event will eclipse anything that Coney Island has ever seen.

Regardless of the bad season many of Coney Island's amusement resorts will pile up a big bank balance for their promoters. Luna Park and the various attractions displayed within its gates take front rank among the big winners for the season. Of the attractions in Luna, The Great Train Robbery, Mundy's Animal Show, The Dragon's Gorge and Shooting the Chutes have been especially popular.

Bradwells' The Deluge, with its scenic glories and electric splendors, has enjoyed the most prosperous summer. Ellis' The End of the World, The Creation, Roltaire's new attractraction, Pharoah's Daughter; and the new elaborate production of San Francisco, leading features in Dreamlnd, have all enjoyed a goodly measure of prosperity.

Speaking of Creation and of Pharoah's Daughters, the success of these two marvelous products of Roltair's inventive brain, can be largely attributed to the talents of two men—W. H. Leyden, who gives the lecture at Creation and W. E. Wilbur, the dramatic lecturer who tells of Pharoah's Daughter. To the thousands who have witnessed these productions during the summer, these gentlemen have brought a measure of delight which has only been encompassed by the capacity of the various auditors to appreciate the intelligent and effective oratory of these two men.

THE KEITH & PROCTOR NEW ERA

Considerable surprise resulted from the recently announced plans of the lately formed Keith & Proctor Amusement Co. General Manager E. F. Albee in a recent interview made known as the most radical development in their arrangements the opening of what has for many years been known as Keith's Union Square Theatre for Sunday performances. Heretofore, this house since it has been controlled by B. F. Keith has not been open on Sunday save in the interest of charity and at that very seldom, indeed. The Dewey Theatre, in the next block, has heretofore held a profitable monopoly on Sunday night theatricals along Fourteenth street, a thoroughfare which is always thronged with seekers after amusement. That Sunday shows at the Union Square Theatre will be immensely profitable seems a foregoing conclusion, and as the Proctor houses now allied in the new combination to the Keith theatres have always given Sunday performances, the change in plans at the Union Square is only following out a logical conclusion. As mentioned in The Billboard several months ago, the Fifth Avenue policy will be changed from dramatic stock to vaudeville. It is presumed that this change is made, in order to give the Keith & Proctor people a vaudeville showing further up town and in closer competition with the vaudeville houses situated on Forty-second street and further up Broadway. The Twenty-third street and the Fifth Avenue will give continuous shows, after the regular opening of the season at the Keith & Proctor houses on Sept. 3. Vaudeville will be continued at Fifty-eight street with two shows a day and up in Harlem, their One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street house, which has always been a gold mine as a stock company theatre, will continue as the policy established by Mr. Proctor when he leased it several years ago. Considerable money will be expended in improving and redecorating the Fifty-eighth Street house and the Fifth Avenue Theatre has been generally cleaned and furnished during its summer of darkness. The Union Square, Twenty-third Street and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street will not require any special treatment from the hands of the cleaners as it has always been the policy of both Mr. Keith and Mr. Proctor to make cleanliness and fresh paint their constant watch-word.

LOCAL THEATRE OPENINGS

THE CRITERION OPENS

On Monday evening, Aug. 6, the hottest night this summer, the Criterion Theatre opened its regular season with Hattie Williams in The Little Cherub, a musical comedy imported from England, written by Owen Hall and Evan Caryll, and then presented for the first time in New York City. A week earlier, on July 30, it had its American initiation in Atlantc City. The cast:

Earl of Sanctobury	Tom Wise
Lord Congress	Andrew Higginson
Algernon Southdown	James Blakeley
Shingle	Will West
Ethelbert	John Mayon
Captain Hereward	Martin Haydon
Alderman Briggs	Richard Chawner
Mr. Grimble	Charles Butler
Crumm	John F. Rogers
Sir John Monteith	H. F. Handel
Molly Montrose	Hattie Williams
Lady Isabel Congress	May Nandain
Lady Dorothy Congress	Grace Field
Lady Agnes Congress	Mabel Hollins
Lady Rose Congress	Winona Winter
Letty	Beth Stone
Mrs. Briggs	Emily Francis
Miss Cuckoo Vanblanc	Dorothy Zimmerman
Miss Kitty Cranbourne	Elsa Reinhardt
Miss Mabel Ducross	Clara Pitt
Miss Mary Macclesfield	Grace Kimball
Miss Olive Manderville	Edna Sidney

The piece stirred enthusiastic endorsement from a capacity audience, notwithstanding the oppressive heat. Later on a detailed review of the play will be given in this department.

The regular season at the eBlasco also began on Aug. 6, when Blanche Bates resumed the run of The Girl of the Golden West, which was interrupted four weeks ago because Miss Bates wanted a vacation. The Fourteenth Street, with Queen of the Highbinders, was also added to the list of regularly opened theatres on the same evening. Thus with "the heated term" apparently just fairly begun, New York has Wallack's open for a preliminary season, in order that His Honor, the Mayor, may continue its money-making run, cut short by the advent of McIntyre and Heath, at the New York Theatre; regular seasons begun at the Criterion, Belasco, Third Avenue, Fourteenth Street, Star, New York and Thalia, and the all-summer uninterrupted run of The Lion and the Mouse at the Hudson. This list will stand for a fortnight, saving the addition of the Academy of Music which began its season Aug. 9 with Dustin Farnum in The Virginian.

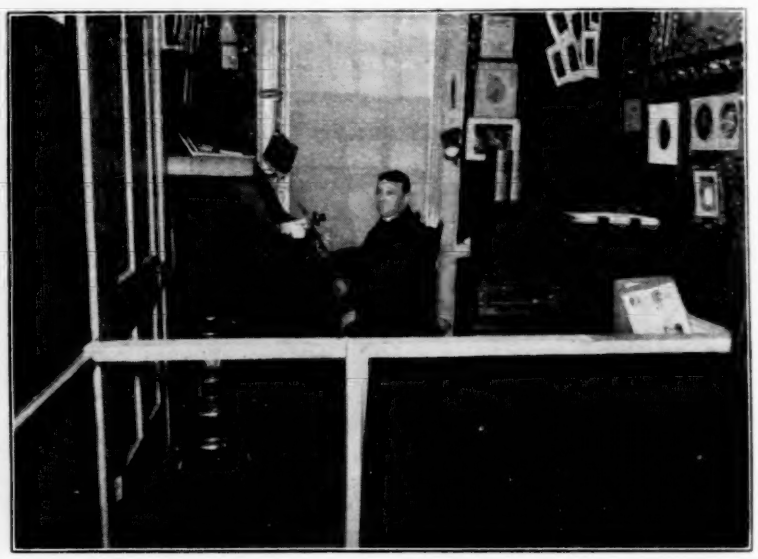
NEW YORK'S NEW THEATRES

Events multiply so rapidly in this vicinity that the investment of a few hundred thousand dollars in the construction of one or more theatres passes as a mere incident in the happenings of few months. Three new theatres are now in course of construction with two of them nearly ready to open. The construction by M. R. Bimberg, of his fourth theatre (which is to be used by David Belasco's attractions) will be a complete fact before many months pass. Hammerstein's Manhattan Opera House, located not far from the new Pennsylvania Railroad Station, is rapidly nearing completion, and will be ready by the time managerial plans for a grand opera season, to rival the Metropolitan Opera House erstwhile monopoly, shall have fully matured. On the west side of Long Acre Square at Forty-fourth street the new Astor Theatre, which M. R. Bimberg has erected and leased to Wagenhals & Kemper, is receiving its finishing touches in preparation for its announced dedication on Aug. 30, by Annie Russell in what is promised to be a really elaborate and sumptuous production of A Mid-summer Night's Dream. Few of the many thousand who have been riding upon the surface care which intersect at Sixty-fourth and Broadway and the L Road, which passes Columbus avenue at that point, have surmised that a theatre was in process of erection back of the Broadway Arcade and a number have not known that the title of Lincoln's Square has been given to that stretch of open street which marks the intersection of several thoroughfares at that junction. Facts are facts, however, and the Lincoln Square Theatre will be opened by the first of October by Walter N. Lawrence, who will operate the theatre under an arrangement with the Messrs. Shubert, who hold the lease. Other projected theatres include a vaudeville house for Percy Williams in the Bronx and another theatre in One Hundred and Forty-sixth street, to be built by that tireless theatre builder, M. R. Bimberg.

MANAGER LAWRENCE GROWING FAST

When Walter N. Lawrence secured the lease of the historic Madison Square Theatre only a relative few months ago, he did not emblazon his name in gaudy letters or set up a hue and cry concerning what he proposed to do. Since his active entry into Gotham theatricals, however, he has gone along about his business in a showman-like way, adding piece by piece to his theatrical possessions and has prospered betime through the advancement of worthy attractions and the exercise of excellent business judgment. Now, within a little more than a year, he possesses a lease of Madison Square Theatre and the new Lincoln Square Theatre, and has arranged with Joseph Weber for an annual dramatic season at Weber's Music Hall. The Music Hall venture followed shortly after he took the lease of the Madison Square and was, last season, most successful. His road attractions for America will this season include Henry E. Dixey, in The Man On the Box; Carlotte Nillson, in The Three of Us; Cyril Scott, in The Prince Chap; Hilda Spong, in Lady Jim; Aubrey Boucicault, in The Greater Love; William F. Hawtrey, in Mr. Wetherby, and Harry Conor in Mrs. Temple's Telegram. He will also present at the Waldorf Theatre, London, Mrs. Temple's Telegram with an English company which is now rehearsing. From a managerial standpoint, and taking in question the logic of his previous good fortune, Mr. Lawrence looms big in view as a prominent factor in the prospective theatrical season.

JOHN T. McCASLIN'S BALTIMORE OFFICE



The above represents the interior of the theatrical office of John T. McCaslin, the Baltimore agent, at the corner of Gay and Lexington streets, Mr. McCaslin being seated at his desk. Mr. McCaslin is one of the most enterprising and energetic business men in Baltimore, and to him is due the credit of having established the only theatrical agency ever conducted in the Maryland metropolis. Mr. McCaslin books for all the local parks and music halls, as well as for the fairs in that neighborhood. He is very popular.

KLAW & ERLANGER'S PLANS

Marc Klaw, of the booking firm of Klaw & Erlanger, has arrived from Europe, and with his arrival comes a plethora of announcements concerning this firm's plans for the coming season. Mr. Klaw came over on the steamship New York arriving in New York City July 27 and a large party of friends greeted him.

Naturally Mr. Klaw first talked of his London ventures. It is almost becoming epidemic for our managers to talk of their enterprises across the pond. In fact, our big managers have so many attractions over there, that it seems there are no English managers, at least it would look like the English producers would have nothing to do.

Season after next Manager Curzon, of the Prince of Wales Theatre is to exchange plays with Klaw & Erlanger. Mr. Curzon endeavored to get The Free Lance this season, but as that attraction had previously been booked in America the London manager was disappointed, notwithstanding the fact that he had made a most generous proposition. This exchange agreement provided that Mr. Curzon will furnish the English attractions in one of the Klaw & Erlanger theatres in New York while the American firm will provide American attractions for a London playhouse.

The firm of Klaw & Erlanger has also purchased the rights to all of George Edwardes' and the Gayety attractions for five years, the contract including all of Mr. Edwardes' productions excepting those made at Daly's Theatre, which belong to the Daly estate. The firm has secured from Mr. Edwardes an option on See See, which was originally produced in Paris under the title of The Third Moon. It is a Chinese musical comedy and a great success, Mr. Klaw says:

Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott will appear in Caesar and Cleopatra at the New Amsterdam Theatre, Oct. 29, and they are now rehearsing in this new play under the direction of George Bernard Shaw, the author.

Henry B. Irving will precede Mr. Robertson and Miss Elliott at the New Amsterdam, opening in repertoire Oct. 1.

Mr. Shaw has partly promised to come to "wicked" New York to see the premiere of Caesar and Cleopatra. He is much elated over the rehearsals, and he feels sure that the new play will be a success from every standpoint.

Klaw & Erlanger will put a company on the road in England presenting Ben Hur. Though this success has been seen in London, it has never reached the provinces. It will also be seen on the Continent.

Anna Held sailed for this country Aug. 8, to begin rehearsals in A Parisian Model.

Concerning their American attractions, Mr. Kalw gave a brief summary as follows:

Joseph Cawthorne will continue in The Free Lance, and McIntyre and Heath have already opened their season in The Ham Tree.

There will be two Forty-five Minutes From Broadway companies. Fay Templeton will head one and Corinne will head the other.

The Prince of Pilsen opens at the Broadway Theatre, New York City, Sept. 24.

Miss Lulu Glaser will appear in a new play; Frank Moulan will be the feature in The Grand Mogul, and the firm will produce John J. McNally's new farce, Apartments to Let. Francis Wilson's new comedy, Miss Dolly Waters, and A. R. Barnet's new musical extravaganza, Pocahontas.

As has been mentioned before in these columns, Klaw & Erlanger will also establish a stock company at the Chestnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, where six original plays and five original musical comedies will be given a run of two weeks each beginning Jan. 1.

BENEFIT GIVEN DUBELL

Harry DuBell, the performer, who was injured at Excelsior Springs, Mo., July 3, while doing his bicycle act on the high wire, was given a benefit at the Auditorium Theatre Saturday afternoon, July 28, and about $100 was turned over to him to help meet his expenses during his illness. The benefit was gotten up by W. D. Everinghim and Fred. Sanford; Manager Snavely donated the Auditorium, Manager Dempsey of the People's, furnished the musicians, who were directed by Prof. Samuel Caldwell; the Eagles defrayed the expenses and advertised the affair with their band; Richard Cook acted as stage manager; Frank James took in tickets at the door; the Rev. T. M. S. Kenney opened the benefit with a few well-chosen words, and the entertainment was furnished by Billy Baker, the Lombard Brothers, Frosto, Miss Eva Thatcher, the Washer Brothers, the Franzmathes, Jake Goergan, illustrated song singer, and Miss Darlington, David Oakes and Richard Cook in a one-act comedy, entitled At the Wigmaker's.

Harry DuBell is at the Kihlberg Hospital and his condition is regarded as quite serious.

DISMISSES BURLESQUE SUIT

The court has dismissed the suit of the Columbia Amusement Co. against the management of the Sullivan & Kraus theatres in New York City by which the plaintiff endeavored to enjoin the defendant theatre company from playing any shows not controlled by the Columbia Amusement Co. This practically means, it is said, that the Empire attractions will play the Gotham, Dewey and Minor theatres in New York City this season. In dismissing the suit the judge held that to bind these three theatres to the Columbia attractions would be grievously in restraint of trade.

Pat-Chats

Chicago Office, Suite 61, Grand Opera House Bldg., 87 S. Clark St.

By WARREN A. PATRICK.

CHICAGO managers are beginning to announce their plans for the season of 1906-7. At the Garrick, with the exception of The Earl and the Girl, with Eddie Foy and a big cast, DeWolf Hopper in Happyland, and Henry E. Dixey in his last season's success, The Man on the Box, all the attractions will be new to Chicago, and some of them, as for instance, David Warfield in The Music Master, Blanche Bates in The Girl from the Golden West, and Lena Ashwell in The Shulamite, will be of commanding interest.

The Garrick's regular season will open Sunday night, Aug 26, with a new play which is to be seen for the first time on any stage. Originally named The Hornet's Nest, the title was deemed misleading, and the play has been renamed A Woman's Way. It is the work of Edward Peple, author of The Prince Chap. It is in four acts. The scene of the first of these is laid in the office of a railroad president in New York City, while the last three take place among the picturesque scenes and surroundings of a cattle ranch in Texas. The production is under the direction of F. Ray Comstock, who has engaged a company of remarkable strength. It will be headed by Odette Tyler, while the leading man will be William Courtney. Other members of the cast will be Olive May, Nestor Lennon, George Woodward, Herbert Ayling, Fred G. Hearn, Walter Thomas, James Marlowe and H. S. Northrop. A Woman's Way will be followed by The Earl and the Girl for one week only, and then will come James T. Powers in The Blue Moon, the English musical comedy, which ran in London at the Lyric Theatre for over six months and was one of the greatest successes of the season.

Lena Ashwell, who is considered one of England's foremost emotional actresses, will open her first American tour at the Garrick in October, in her most recent success and greatest triumph, The Shulamite, a dramatized story, the theme of which is derived from the scriptural reference to the Shulamite, with scenes laid in a cheerless cottage on the bleak Transvaal veldt shortly after the Boer war. Among the New York successes to be seen at the Garrick will be The Social Whirl, which has been runing to capacity at the New York Casino for some months past; David Warfield in The Music Master; Blanche Bates in The Girl of the Golden West, and Veronique, with Louise Gunning.

Lew Fields is booked to appear in his Americanized version of the big English success, The Orchid, with an all-star cast, and R. H. Burnside's new and successful opera, The Tourists, which scored such a success in Philadelphia and Boston at the close of the season, is also conspicuous in the list of Garrick offerings.

In the spring, arrangements are being made on an elaborate scale for the visit of E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe in a Shakespearean festival, the latest engagement in this country of those stars before they go to England, to appear at the Waldorf Theatre, London, and at the Memorial Theatre, in Stratford-on-Avon. Other Shubert offerings at the Garrick and the Studebaker are: Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Virginia Harned, Margaret Anglin, Peter F. Dailey in a new musical comedy; Mary Shaw in Browning plays; Arnold Daly in a repertoire of Bernard Shaw's dramas; Bertha Galland, Carlotta Nilson, W. H. Thompson, Bertha Kalich, Louis Mann and Clara Lipman and Christie MacDonald.

LA SALLE'S NEW OFFERING

Another original musical comedy offering will be launched at the LaSalle Theatre, Aug. 18. The Time, the Place and the Girl will be given its premiere on that date. The LaSalle Stock Company has established a reputation for clever performers and up-to-date attractions. The policy in vogue at this playhouse last season will be continued. The Time, the Place and the Girl is by Adams, Hough and Howard, authors of The Umpire. Special care has been taken in selecting the cast for the new play. It will be one of the few stock companies in the country presenting musical comedy exclusively. The chorus in the new production will be one of the features. Ned Wayburn has charge of the drilling of these agile dancers. He will be remembered for his fetching numbers in The Ham Tree and other big eastern productions. It is his first effort in Chicago in the producing line.

McVICKER'S OPENS WITH O'NEILL

James O'Neill comes to McVicker's Theatre, Saturday, Aug. 18, with Monte Cristo. The veteran player says this is to be his last year in the familiar piece. He has been using it now for something like a quarter of a century.

SID. EUSON MAKING IMPROVEMENTS

The changes being made in Sid J. Euson's Theatre are well under way and will be completed some time before the beginning of the new season.

THE FREE LANCE OPENS SEPT 2

The Sousa Opera Company, with Joseph Cawthorn in the principal role of Siegmund Lump, will present Klaw & Erlanger's production of John Philip Sousa's new military comic opera, The Free Lance, at the Illinois Theatre, beginning Sunday evening, Sept. 2. The book, which tells a funny story teeming with humor and funny situations, is by Harry B. Smith. The company numbers 110 people and is especially conspicuous for the talent of its chorus, which consists of fifty men and thirty-six exceptionally attractive young women. The principals of the cast will be the same as during the run of The Free Lance at the New Amsterdam in New York last spring—Joseph Cawthorn, Albert Hart, George Schiller, Sim Pulen, George Tallman, Louis Haines, Charles Santra, Nella Bergen, Jeanette Lowrie, Fannie Migley, Geraldine Malone, Monte Elmo, Estelle Thebaud and Dorothy Southwick. The engagement is for two weeks.

MATTERS OF FACT

Harry Askin's production of The Umpire, with Fred Mace in the leading role, will open the Racine Opera House Aug. 14. A single performance will be given in the Grand Opera House, Chicago, Sunday night, Aug. 19, and the production will then go en tour with an excellent list of bookings.

Miss May Vokes, a Chicago woman, has been winning laughs in Rose Valley, at the Grand Opera House. Miss Vokes has made a specialty of playing servant girl parts and her hit in such a role was one of the best features in the drama. She began the education that qualified her for a stage career at the Chicago Conservatory, and she has now been before the public eight years, during which time she has been identified with many prominent companies.

Frank Pixley and Gus Luders have transferred their workshop from Mackinac Island to the Moraine Hotel, at Highland Park, and there are laboring over the book and score of The Great Mogul, the new Japanese comic opera which they promise will be ready for production before a great while. Pixley believes that his recent visit to Japan put him in the correct frame of mind to give us a Nipponese opera which will be distinctively oriental. It is declared that the early work on the score promises some of the best music Luders has ever written.

Oliver Doud Byron is here in Chicago attending the performances of The Lion and the Mouse, in order to study the work of his son, Arthur Byron, in the part of Ready Money Ryder. The elder Mr. Byron will essay the role in one of The Lion and the Mouse companies next season.

Because of the extremely warm weather, and because George C. Tyler, the managing director of Liebler & Co., does not wish to tax the strength of Miss Elsie Janis more than is necessary, he obtained the consent of Manager Lederer, of the Coliseum Theatre, to omit the Sunday performances of The Vanderbilt Cup during the remainder of the engagement. Nine performances a week, it was decided, is too much hard work for a young girl who is as strenuous in her stage performances as is Miss Janis.

Frank Dallam, who has seen newspaper service in various capacities in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, is one of the recent deserters of the dramatic editor's chair to cast his lot with the brotherhood of press agents. He has left the Philadelphia Public Ledger to exploit Mizpah, the new Ella Wheeler Wilcox biblical play, in which Elizabeth Kennedy will be seen at McVicker's next month.

A One Horse Town will be the first musical show Ned Wayburn will bring to Chicago on his own account. It tells the story of life in the cyclone belt.

NEW THEATRE ENGAGEMENTS

Three names have been added to the roster of the company which will be seen in the New Theatre next season. They are James Lewis. Mr. Durkin is at present leading man at the Davidson Theatre, Milwaukee, and the critics and public there are enthusiastic in their praises of his work. Maggie Holloway Fisher is one of the best known old women of the stage. For the last ten years she has appeared almost exclusively with the productions of Mr. Charles Frohman, both in this country and in London. She was a member of several prominent stock companies in England before she was brought to this country by Mr. Frohman.

Sheldon Lewis received his preliminary training with the late Augustin Daly, having been a member of the famous Daly Stock Company for four years. Later Mr. Lewis went into stock work. For three years he has appeared with Klaw & Erlanger's productions entirely. Last season he was seen in The Prince of India.

The work of reconstructing Steinway Hall for the purpose of the New Theatre is now in progress under the supervision of Marshall & Fox, the architects. Nearly $50,000 will be spent, and it is expected to be the handsomest small theatre in the country.

LEDERER ANNOUNCES PLANS

"The so-called musical drama seems to have struck the keynote of popularity in the whimsical inclinations of theatregoers, and that form of entertainment will be the chief offering of the Colonial Theatre during the coming season," said George W. Lederer, one day last week. "We will follow the policy inaugurated when this establishment was opened under our management, the first day of last October, holding in view the advantages of Chicago as a theatre center and its superior qualifications as a producing point."

VAUDEVILLE IN CHICAGO

In the Bijou vaudeville theatre at White City, last week, Manager Meagher presented the following attractions: Robertson's Dog and Monkey Show, Gonzales Brothers, in Mexican serenades; The Musical Fays, The Bijou Comedy Duo, presenting their sketch, 100-to-1 Shot; Peter J. Smith and the moving pictures.

In the vaudeville theatre in Sans Souci Park, Mr. Meagher's bill included Count De Buts and Brother, in a comedy bicycle act; Innes and Ryan, Ed. Moon, in a comic musical act; DeVan Brothers, acrobats; Raimund and Good, singing and dancing comedians.

At the Majestic were May Boley and Polly Girls, Bert Leslie and Co., Carlisle's Dogs and Ponies, Marvelous Terley, Howard and Bland, Rialto Comedy Four, Sydney Sterling and Co., Hayward, Conroy and Hayward, Millard Brothers; Lizzie McKeever; Williams and Mayer, Edward LaZelle, Avery and Pearl and Carling Sisters.

At the Olympic were The Hazardous Globe Act, Jessie Couthoui and Co., Joe Flynn, Byron and Langdon, Eleanor Dorrel, Lillian Apel and Fred. Sumner, Lavinia DeWitt, Stuart and Keeley Sisters, The Aldeans, Bernice and Boy, Lewis and Lessington, Pero and Wilson, Shannon and Straw and Kate Cameron.

PAIN'S POMPEII OPENS BIG

Opening to a crowd of 12,000 people Sunday night, Aug. 5, Pain's pyrotechnical spectacle, The Fall of Pompeii, started a run at Riverview Park. It is the same big show that was featured at the White City for three weeks this season, but so far outclasses the Pompeii of recent years that the comparison is immediately noticeable. The Pompeii engagement is for one month.

BREEZY BITS OF NEWS

The Haymarket will reopen for the new season Aug. 20.

Martin Beck is now on his third automobile trip to New York this summer.

Marguerite Merrington's rural play has run its course. The play, named Rose Valley, at a cost to Will J. Block of $100, was taken from the Grand Opera House Saturday night, 11, and is followed by a new drama, Vindication, this week, commencing Monday night, Aug. 13. This new play, by a Chicagoan, Henry Gardner Hunting, is in three acts. It deals with a serious problem in modern life and the scenes are laid in a village near Chicago and in a city hotel. The play is enacted by the same good cast which has been struggling with the Merrington play. The future of Rose Valley hangs in the balance. What is to be done with it is not definitely decided at this time, but in all probability it will be sent to the dramatic bone pile.

ARMSTRONG'S NEW STUNT

Harry Armstrong, the busiest booking agent on Randolph street, and famous for his "corner on the chorus girl market of America," is engaged in a new stunt these days. President Frank C. Tate recently commissioned Harry to secure two ostriches, with lady riders, for a hippodrome feature with the Carl Hagenbeck Shows.

There was no difficulty in securing the birds, for within a few hours following the receipt of Mr. Tate's order, Harry had chosen and arranged for two of the biggest ostriches in Manager Frazier's flock at Riverview Park; but Harry finds that getting lady riders is quite another matter. When it comes to framing up the chorus for an extravaganza company or an opera troupe, Harry can generally be relied upon to deliver the goods on time and in excellent condition. But hunting lady riders for the ostrich hippodrome races has almost turned his locks a silver gray.

We are informed, however, that Harry was able to land one girl who can pilot an ostrich around a hippodrome track from among a score of applicants who have tried for the position.

A Missouri mule's kick is mere play compared to the "throw" of a full-fledged racing ostrich. One young lady who aspired for the position of rider, in a preliminary try-out at Riverview Park, had to be rescued from a perilous position on top of the picket fence which encloses the ostrich colony.

But Harry knows no such word as failure, and declares that in a few days he will be able to deliver to the Hagenbeck Shows a racing feature, the like of which has not been seen before with any circus in this country.

BALTIMORE HOUSE IMPROVED

The Monumental Theatre, Baltimore, has been so thoroughly renovated and improved this summer by the Empire people that they have decided to call it the New Monumental or the Theatre Beautiful. It has been "rejuvenated" to all appearances and several thousand dollars have been expended upon it. The house has been reseated and there are folding chairs in the balcony. The site of the new Monumental has been in use as an amusement resort for nearly fifty years and its location, "Over the Bridge," is known to many thousands. The house opens Aug. 27 with one of the Empire attractions.

CAHN CHOOSES GARRITY

When A. L. Grant, of the theatrical firm of Cahn & Grant, was stricken with serious illness recently, Mr. Cahn chose Michael J. Garrity, manager of the Jefferson Theatre, Portland, Me., to look after the firm's business in New England and eastern New York. Mr. Grant passed away last week and now it is possible that Mr. Garrity may become a member of the firm. Mr. Garrity is well known among theatrical people and he is an efficient manager.

HALLER IS MANAGER

Frank M. Haller has succeeded E. F. Maxwell as manager of the Faurot Opera House, Lima, Ohio, Mr. Maxwell going to Chicago, where he will have an interest in one of the booking agencies. The Faurot opened Aug. 10 with The Fast Mail. Other booking for the month are The Belle of Japan 11; A Mad Love, 16; The Land of Cotton, 21; Al. G. Field Minstrels, 23; Her Only Sin, 24; Our New Minister, 28, and Crocker's Educated Horses, 30, 31 and Sept. 1.

BURNED AT ROMONA PARK

While assisting the fire department in fighting flames that were devouring a building near Romona Park, Grand Rapids, Mich., Sunday, Aug. 5, Capt. Sidney Hinman, whose life-saving dogs were on the program at Romona, sustained severe burns about the hands, back and hips that necessitated his absence from the bill for several performances.

Major Del Lontain and his wife are preparing a new gun and baton spinning act.

BLANEY'S ARCH ST. THEATRE OPENS WITH NEW THRILLER

Schedule of Philadelphia's Opening Events

The Number of Playhouses in Operation in The Quaker City Will Make of Chestnut Street a Rialto That Will Rival Those in Some of The Towns That Have Boasted Superiority.

THAT the people of the Quaker City are hungry for indoor amusements is proven by the opening of Blaney's Arch Street Theatre on Saturday, Aug. 4. At a time of the year when everybody is supposed to be taking their summer vacation, on a day when the streets were sizzling hot; in fact, the hottest day of the year, that theatre was jammed to the roof with a crowd that taxed the capecity. This is no press agent's yarn, but the truth. At both afternoon and evening performances every seat was sold and as many were allowed to stand as the police would permit, and even then hundreds were turned away. Hot? It was like sitting near a blast furnace with a seal-skin coat on, and yet they seemed to enjoy it. If this don't mean that this season of 1906-7 is going to be the best ever, then I am away off in my calculations. The opening attraction was Charles E. Blaney's latest play, A Child of the Regiment, with Vivian Prescott as the star, and it was a big hit. The scenic effects are wonderful and the thrills are frequent enough to satisfy the most vivid Blaney admirer.

Announcements of openings are coming thick and fast and every manager seems to want to swing his doors open as early as possible. The National Theatre opens on Aug. 11, with Secrets of the Police. The Bijou will close on the 13th with its summer stock and reopen on Aug. 20 with regular Empire bookings. The Grand will open on the 18th, with John J. Farrell in The Count and the Convict. The Standard will open with its stock company on the 18th. Hart's Theatre will open Sept. 2 with The Man of Her Choice. The Grand Opera House opens on the 18th with Gorman's Minstrels. Dumont's Minstrels on August 25, with a new array of specialists and the regular minstrel company for the season. Forepaugh's Theatre on Aug. 25, with stock. The Park Theatre on the 27th, with Charles H. Yale's Devil's Auction. The Broad Street Theatre with The Strength of the Weak, on Sept. 17. Little Johnny Jones will start things at the Chestnut on Sept. 10, and Little Jack Horner, with Gabriel, will start in to amuse the patrons of the Chestnut Street Opera House on Sept. 17.

B. F. McPhail, who was with the Wallace Shows for fifteen years, is now manager for Blaney's Child of the Regiment.

Word comes from Brooklyn, Baltimore and all adjacent cities that the openings in the popular priced houses this season have been the biggest in the history of those houses.

Blaney's Arch Street Theatre has for its executive staff this season the following people: Manager, John P. Eckhardt; Busines Manager, Max Farbish; Treasurer, Frank Migone, and Assistant Treasurer, Leon Schlesinger.

The Dime Museum, at 9th and Arch streets, will reopen in the latter part of August, and as usual, will run the same class of attractions, freaks and novelties in the curio halls and a first-class vaudeville performance in the theatre. It will be conducted by the same people as before, the Bradenbergh Estate retaining the interest of Mr. Bradenbergh, who died recently, and Thomas F. Hopkins acting as manager. Many improvements are being made in the house.

James Cole, of Cole and Clemens, is enjoying a vacation on a farm at Benson, Neb. He says that while farming is hard work, the change from vaudeville work is pleasant. The team will start in on their vaudeville dates in September.

National President John Suplee, of the Bill Posters' and Billers' Union, has been in New York for a week, straightening out some kinks in some of the local unions.

Jovial and good-natured Frank Migone, treasurer of the Arch Street Theatre, gained twenty pounds this summer and says that he hopes that the weather will soon get cool, for avoirdupois is harder to carry around than money.

Philadelphia newspaper men are fast deserting their positions for active theatrical work. Fred Donaghey has made more than good in New York as press agent; Frank Dallam is going out ahead of a show, and A. W. Steele is now engaged in theatrical writing in New York.

George H. W. Moore is again publishing the programs for the Casino, Walnut Street, Kensington, Blaney's Arch Street and Eleventh Street Opera House. Handsome new frontispieces have been made for all of them, and they will all be of a uniform size.

Willard McGuire has again signed as advertising agent of the Casino Theatre, and will start to let the natives know about the big shows in a few days.

J. Bard Worrell, formerly manager of a number of theatres in Philadelphia and Newark, N. J., but who has been in the mercantile business for the past three years, is to go back to management. He is to have charge of Charles H. Yale's new vaudeville opera, Those Primrose Girls, which takes the road in September.

E. W. Beall, the Alton, Ill., correspondent of The Billboard, spent his vacation visiting all the eastern offices of the paper he represents.

Victor Herbert has been drawing big crowds to Willow Grove Park by giving special programs every afternoon and evening. His engagement runs until Aug. 11, and he will be succeeded by Sousa and His Band, who will finish the season of the park. A number of hot nights have made the park business good. Woodside, Chestnut Hill, White City and Washington Park on the Delaware all report this as the best season in years.

With four burlesque houses, two stock houses and two popular price melodramatic houses giving daily matinees, and a number of other melodramatic houses giving three and four matinees a week, Philadelphia should be able to take care of all the people next season who want to kill an afternoon. BOB WATT.

Clemens, Mich., and is getting ready for the opening of Hyde & Behman's Theatre, on Sept. 3, Labor Day.

Mr. James Hyde's Blue Ribbon Girls will open at the Gayety Theatre on Aug. 20, for one week. Mr. Hyde will manage the Blue Ribbon Girls this season, and he is now framing up a show that will be hard to beat.

The Blue Ribbon Girls are booked at the Star Theatre week of Aug. 27.

ADELE RITCHIE

Adele Ritchie visited Dreamland, Coney Island recently and a marauding photographer "caught" her just as she had taken up into her arms the smallest baby in the world, which is on exhibition in one of incubators.

The Behman Show, a new burlesque show, with Frank D. Bryan, manager, will open the Star Theatre on Aug. 18. The Behman Show will be one of the best burlesque shows of the Eastern Wheel, and with Frank D. Bryan as manager, the attraction is sure of success.

Arch H. Ellis, manager of the Star Theatre, who has ben spending the summer at Sayville, Long Island, is back in the city, getting ready for the opening of the Star.

The Behman Show plays the Gayety Theatre week of Aug. 27.

The Majestic Theatre has been handsomely redecorated and every comfort added for its patrons and will open Aug. 18 with The Yankee Consul, for one week. The advance sale is very large.

Wm. E. Slafer, Brooklyn's bandmaster, has contracted to furnish all the bands and music at the Mardi-Gras and Prince of Plenty Carnival, given at Coney Island, Sept. 17-23.

Herbert A. Bradwell, of The Deluge fame, visited the White City, at Chicago, Ill., last week.

A.Bradwell & Co., who will design parks, amusement devices and scenic productions. Mr. H. A. Bradwell & Co., who will design parks, men of Coney Island, and his new company is made up of the following well-known business men: Chas L. Feltman, Anderson Reid, Henry Grashman. Danforth, the well-known theatrical men, are president and secretary and treasurer, respectively. The Bijou Co. controls a number of vaudeville theatres in Winconsin and Michigan, owns the new White City Park at Oshkosh, controls a big carnival company and it will soon begin the erection of a new theatre at Racine, Wis.

ACTORS IN WRECK

A wreck on the Great Northern at Camden, Wash., July 23, nearly resulted disastrously for several theatrical people. Among them were Clayton Robbins, of the Auditorium, Spokane, Wash., and John Lord and Carmelita Meeks, vaudeville performers. The train went over an embankment and into the lake. The people broke the car windows and swam to safety. John Lord was severely injured, but he managed to get his wife to safety without injury to her.

WEATHERBY GETS JEFFERSON THEATRE

NIRDLINGER'S

Plans For Coming Season

Advance Notes of The One Night Shows and Some Others.

FRED G. NIXON-NIRDLINGER will put out several first-class one-night stand attractions the coming season in addition to the pretentious Nixon & Zimmerman attractions that will visit only the cities. Only the more important attractions can be touched on in this letter.

The Nixon & Zimmerman announcement that has created the most interest is the engagement of Henry B. Irvin, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, who with Mrs. Irving and his entire English company, will visit America, opening at the New Amsterdam Theatre, in New York, early in October. The plays that will be presented will be The Jury of Fate, by C. M. S. McClellan (Hugh Morton); Mauricette, Paoli and Francesca, Louis XI., The Lyons Mail, Thomas A Becket, King Arthur, and others.

Viola Allen has no idea of retiring from the stage, although such a story has been widely published recently. She will be seen the coming season in a revival of Cymbeline, under the management of Nixon & Zimmerman, and will occasionally present Twelfth Night and The Winter's Tale. This is the last year of the existing contract under which she is managed by this firm, but the tours have been so profitable and the relations so pleasant that it is very likely that the contract will be renewed.

Thomas E. Shea, whose tours under Nixon & Zimmerman's management have been very successful, both artistically and financially, will be seen the coming season in his usual repertoire with The Gladiator added, and possibly a couple of new plays.

Another dramatic attraction that will be under the management of Mr. Nirdlinger will be The Proud Prince, by Justin Huntley McCarthy, which E. H. Sothern used several years ago. It is a powerful drama founded on the incidents in the life of King Robert of Sicily and is said to be as strong a play as The Sign of the Cross. Mr. Nirdlinger is taking great care in the selection of the company, and has announced that Porter J. White will portray Mr. Sothern's role. Mr. White has been touring the country for several years with such plays as Francesca de Remini and The Fool's Revenge, and unquestionably is a find. The tour will open in Philadelphia late in August.

Leah Kleschna, which was used so successfully by Mrs. Fiske, will be sent out by Nixon & Zimmerman the coming season with a noted female star in the role of Leah.

Williard Spenser's Rosalie, which proved a big hit in Philadelphia this summer and which is a worthy successor to Princess Bonnie, Miss Bob White and The Little Tycoon, will take the road about the middle of September with practically the original cast. The music of Rosalie is said to be fully up to the Spenser standard, and it has been highly complimented by Philadelphia critics as a play. It has been a long time since a play took the road that will be more heartily received on tour.

Simple Simon, the famous cartoon extravaganza that has played two or three engegements in every city fortunate enough to be on the Nixon & Zimmerman route, will visit a few cities in the middle and central west and make an extensive tour of the south. The cast that has been engaged is by far the strongest that has ever presented it and a complete new scenic production has been provided.

Frank Deshon, who toured the country last season in The Office Boy, will have a new play this season and one written especially for him. His presentation of Frank Daniel's role gave fine satisfaction on tour and managers all over the country flooded Mr. Nirdlinger with requests for him, but Deshon was so attached to a play Julian Chandler Harris, of the Atlanta Constitution, was writing for him, that the little comedian was given his own way. The title of the new piece has not been decided upon at this writing. The Girl from Keith's and Benton from Boston are both being considered. Deshon will have a strong supporting company, the roster of which will appear in a succeeding letter.

A musical show, which is destined to make those who are weary of the same nonsensical productions without plot, humor or good music, set up and start their hands going will be The Mayor of Laughland, in which Tom Waters, the original comedian, will be featured. Every showman who has seen Waters work has spoken of his wonderful ability, and it is another evidence of far-sightedness in Nixon & Zimmerman to give him a production that can go into first-class houses. To my mind there is no question of his making good. The company engaged for his support will include several names familiar to those who like musical comedy, and the new piece will be on entirely original lines.

HERE AND THERE

John W. Vogel's Minstrels will open the Court Theatre's season, at Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 28.

Miss Dorothea Marie Keyes, of the Keyes Sisters, who reside at Morgantown, W. Va., was the guest of the Bryant Comedy Co., at Fairchance, Pa., last week.

How Hearts are Broken opened the season at Detroit, and all records were broken at the first performance for hot weather attendance. The villain's head was broken several times and it proved to be just what the Whitney audience wanted. Milliard H. Krueger is managing the company for Aubrey Mittenthal; Ernest Eisfelt is ahead, and the cast includes Franklyn Searight, Ralph C. Herbert, F. Howard Lange, C. Edwin Dudley, Francis J. Stratton, Richard F. Freeman, Eugenie Besserer, Amanda

London Letter

JOHN MOORE, Representative. 'Phone 4194 Gerrard.

By JOHN MOORE.

NEARLY all the London music halls are doing well, despite the heat wave we are getting right now. The Tivoli is doing great and the Palace is going strong. Mr. Burt, the manager visited the States, and several big Yankee turns are liable to be the outcome. Several have already appeared and have made good. Fred Niblo is going remarkably strong at this house. The Tivoli is paying a fourteen per cent. dividend for the year; it was six last year. Morris Cronin's Troupe are still pulling at the Empire.

Chas. Frohman's name looms large in London theatrical circles just now. He secures somebody every week. He now controls five London theatres and has met with success.

It seems that the negotiations for opening the Lyceum again as a regular theatre have come to naught. Mr. H. B. Irving and other actor managers have carefully studied the dramatic possibilities of Henry Irving's old house. If the theatre is not let quickly, the building will probably be put up at auction next month in the interests of the debenture holders.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell's autumn tour in the United States has been postponed. Mr. Arthur Collins has secured her services for a leading part in The Bondman at Drury Lane. Last year he surprised London by announcing that Mr. George Alexander would sustain the principal role in The Prodigal.

Mr. E. S. Willard will play Colonel Newcome in the States, and Mr. Clyde Fitch, the American dramatist, has arranged for another of his Majesty's Theatre successes, The Last of the Dandies, to be played in Paris.

Mme. Fougere, the celebrated French artist, who was convicted of larceny at the Clerkenwell Sessions, will not go to prison after all. Both she and her husband had been found guilty of stealing articles of lingerie from Louis and Allenby, Limited, of Regent street, London. On the application of defendant's counsel a case was stated for the consideration of the Court of Crown Cases Reserved, on the grounds that (1) there was no evidence against the man; (2) that evidence with regard to alleged stealing of other articles from other shops had been improperly admitted, and (3) that if the man was guilty, the wife should be acquitted. The case came before the Lord Chief Justice, Justices Kennedy, Darling, Walton and Lawrence. The Lord Chief Justice delivered judgment quashing the indictment, and the other judges agreed. So Mme. Fougere is free.

Harriet Vernon, one of the finest women on the variety stage, has for the second time experienced divorce. Mr. Albert Marks, her husband, presented a petition on the ground of his wife's adultery with Leslie Race, a music hall artist. When petitioner married her in 1898, she was a Mrs. Gillett, a divorced woman. When divorce papers were served on them, Lace remarked "that's all right," and respondent smiled "Good evening." A decree nisi was granted, but without costs against co-respondent, as there was no evidence to show he knew she was a married woman.

The charming young actress, Miss Zena Dare, is no longer associated with Mr. George Edwards' productions. She has signed a two years' contract with Mr. Frohman. She is playing Miss Ellaline Terries' part in The Beauty of Bath.

One of the newest American vaudeville attractions, illustrated songs, will be produced by Mr. Butt at the Palace. He has secured the rights of some exclusive American melodies.

The American musical comedy, Mlle. Modiste, with Miss Fritzi Scheff in the principal part, will be seen at the Aldwych Theatre, under Mr. Frohman's management. Mr. Frohman has leased Mr. Hicks' new theatre in Shaftesbury avenue, which will be open in December.

The erection of several suburban music halls will mean a further development of the syndicate plan of booking artists, which, despite many drawbacks, has improved the character of music hall shows and assures the artists more regular employment. This is probably why so many representatives of the "legitimate" are now appearing at variety theatres.

Miss Gaynor Rowlands is dead. She became ill while playing in The Spring Chicken at the Gaiety, and never recovered. The stage and public have lost one of their favorites. With one exception, no other woman has been more photographed than this beautiful actress. She commenced her stage career in the Empire ballet, but Mr. Geo. Edwards discovered her magnificent voice, and she played in all the Gaiety successes.

Germaine, billed as the American Wizard, gave his wierd show at the Empire, Bristol, and made good.

Tod Sloan is to reappear in this country shortly in his old role of jockey, but the race course will be a revolving stage in a variety hall.

Statements have been made that Sir Charles Wyndham would play a season at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, under Mr. Frohman's management. Sir Charles has no intention at present of visiting America.

The death of Miss Violet Friend is announced at the age of 32. She was a first favorite at the halls. She had received a gift of a diamond pendant from the New York Millionaires' Club.

WHO WOULDN'T BE AN ARTIST-ART AND ARTFUL AGENT

Professional contracts vary with the whim of the managers that make them full of annoying and sometimes absurd conditions. The Northampton music hall manager has succeeded in evolving from his fertile brain a peculiar specimen. The Northampton is an annex to a "put" in the Cambridge Road, London. Gee, whiz, three times. This is the effect.

Office, 111 Cambridge Road, E.

Engagement to commence April 16, if terms agreed upon. Send 15s. for tickets and blank for signing.

Northampton Music Hall,

Northampton St., Cambridge Road, E. (Proprietor, J. McPartland; General Manager, Charles Rose.)

I, ————, on consulting Mr. Charles Rose to give me a start on the variety stage, agree to purchase of the said Charles Rose, the general manager of the Northampton Music Hall, for one pound, ten shillings, tickets of admission to above hall, and to dispose of same three days previous to my engagement, to such I bind myself; failing to do so, I must settle and pay Charles Rose one pound, ten shillings, and after such payment has been made by me to Charles Rose, I claim the full right of one week's engagement, to commence on ————, 190—. The manager, Charles Rose, has the right to cancel my engagement if I should not happen to carry out all particulars exactly as stated in this agreement.

On the other hand, I, Charles Rose, agree, on the aforementioned conditions, to engage M———— for one week, commencing Monday, ————, 190—. Salary to be paid by me for the above service rendered not to exceed one pound (£1) for the week, on condition that all rules and regulations are properly carried out, as per this agreement. Signed this —— day of ————. CHARLES ROSE.

Ye American artists that yearned for a show on the British boards, haste, get a balloon, or fly to the Cambridge Road, interview Mr. Rose, raise the rhino, and there you are. If you are not it, it is not Mr. Rose's—how sweet the name—fault. It may be you have forgotten to carry out all particulars. The salary if not more than one pound is forfeited. But what matters, you have appeared on a London stage.

LADY ACROBATS DEMONSTRATE IN HYDE PARK

A mass meeting in Hyde Park was announced for the 22d of July, by lady acrobats and gymnasts. They were going to demonstrate against the Dangerous Performance Bill and generally make Mr. Herbert Samuel's hair curl because he had the audacity to call the work of a trained professional dangerous. Four ladies opened the demonstration, unfurling a large white sheet, bearing the words: "Demonstration against Dangerous Performances Bill. Defiance to Westminster." The Reverend Stewart Headlam did most of the speaking. He briefly outlined the bill, but the Sunday audience seemed to prefer gazing on the fine figure of Miss Vuleana, the strong lady. There was a sudden end to the demonstration. There was nothing to demonstrate about. Some one informed the reverend gentleman that the bill had been withdrawn the previous night.

THE COLISEUM

It appears that there are internal bickerings among the shareholders of the Coliseum. A shareholders' defence committee has been formed and the secretary of the movement has issued a circular to shareholders asking for twelve cents a share to form a defence fund. The liquidators and inspection committee repudiate this circular and say that the interests of the shareholders are being protected in every possible way. They hope to put forward a scheme for reconstruction at an early date.

MISS MABEL BARDINE

A London daily paper prints this of the accomplished American actress, who has produced the sketch Nell of the Music Halls at the Pavilion: "Miss Mabel Bardine is an American actress of varied gifts and striking presence. The sketch is hardly a fitting medium for the display of Miss Bardine's talents and she will be advised to play something more suitable."

A DESERVING CAUSE

The Era has opened a subscription list for Miss Dot Stephens, the young variety artist, who a couple of weeks back, accidentally fell out of a train. One foot had to be amputated and part of the other. Her career as a dancer is at an end. It is desired to purchase a small annuity for her. No more deserving appeal was ever made to the profession and the public generally, and we hope there will be a liberal response. Checks should be sent to Mr. F. H. Pedgrife, Era Offices, 5 Tavistock St., London, England. Several leading members of the profession have already subscribed, including Mr. George Alexander, Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Edna May, Miss Stella Gastelle, Miss Evelyn Millard, Mr. Lewis Walled, Mr. B. H. Irving and many others.

DOOM OF THE PIRATES

It was in the wee sma' hours that the House of Commons rang the death knell of the music pirate. Mr. T. P. O'Connor fathered the measure and Mr. Lupton was the principal opponent. There was a good deal of levity during the three hours the measure was under discussion. This seemed strange in a house where Justice (with a big J) and rights of toil are supposed to be paramount. A member was asked to sing Kathleen Mavourneen and another was asked to put a paper hat on his head. The penalties for selling unauthorized copies of music are now made severe. Previously the usual punishment was the destruction of the seized copies and a nominal fine.

THE MAD HATTER

I noticed in a recent issue of The Billboard that you'e all Alices in Wonderland at London is going to have the real thing. Mr. Seymour Hicks will be almost the only grown-up in the show when Alice in Wonderland will be produced at a series of afternoon performances at the New Hicks Theatre, Shaftesbury Avenue. He will take the part of the Mad Hatter, and Alice will be in the hands of Miss Barbara Deane, a charming young actress discovered by Miss Ellaline Terriss. This theatre will constitute a record of rapid building. The Aldwych was opened in elevenfa months from clearing the site, and the Hicks will take less time.

ALASKA ON THE ROAD

The great American drama, Alaska, is now being toured through England by Mr. Hilliard Vox and his capital company, including Mr. Albert Rogers. Alaska is a stirring and sensational drama of life in that remote region—a region of ice and snow. The drama is of real human interest, while the humorous side relieves the tension of some of the more heart-rending incidents. Mr. Hilliard Vox has booked all the leading towns and cities in Great Britain and at Stockton-on-Lees, Newcastle, Liverpool and Manchester crowded houses have shown hearty appreciation, and an enormous success is predicted for the tour.

ANNOTATIONS

Rumor had it a few days ago that the Lyceum Theatre was to be opened by a big minstrel company, a hundred star performers from America, upon the lines of Haverly's Mastodons of twenty-five years ago. Judgment has been been entered for the first debenture holders, who claim £120,000 and interest from January. The only tolerable certain thing about the historic house is that it will come under the hammer, and that shortly.

The two-houses-a-night system is jumping into favor. The latest to take the leap in the Camberwell Palace, under the aegis of Palace (Ltd.) Moss Empires and Stoll Companies.

Fred Ginnett's bright, stirring Surprises Ride to York is a favorite with London and Provincial audiences.

The Berhill Kursaal, an up-to-date sea side pleasure house, last week engaged Mme. Emma Nevada. She was assisted by prominent artists, the accompaniments being played by Mr. George Shapiro, being billed as the celebrated American pianist.

Mooney & Holbein, grotesque dancers, from the States, are making good at the palace. Mr. Butts' recent tour in the States resulted in some captures and all have hit hard here.

There's a jolly little American girl at the Holborn Music Hall. Her name is Kitty Jerome, and her business is decidedly appreciated twice nightly.

The Kursaal Mundles—where the oysters come from—was opened on Monday, July 30. The town is four miles from Swansea, Wales, and the theatre will be open all the year round.

IN HER ONLY SIN CO.

The above picture of Julia Gray and the leading members of Her Only Sin Co., was taken recently by Frank E. Foster, The Billboard's correspondent at Iowa Falls, Ia.

MISS HOPPER LOSES SUIT

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of London, on Aug. 7, recommended the dismissal of the appeal of the suit, entitled Dunsmuir vs. Dunsmuir and Hopper vs. Dunsmuir. This practically puts an end to the suit in which Edna Wallace Hopper endeavored to break the will of the late Alexander Dunsmuir, her stepfather, who devised all his property to his brother, James Dunsmuir, formerly Premier of British Columbia. The suit was bitterly fought and occasioned considerable expense to both parties.

A couple of most unfortunate accidents at pleasure parks recently bring into prominence the fact that in spite of the growing mania for sensationalism in all forms of amusements the proportion of such accidents is small compared with the great number who indulge their desire for blood stirring sensations. Every summer brings forward some new product of an inventive genius and in spite of the growing list of devices for pleasure seekers, the occuring fatalities remain conspicuously small. In most cases where accidents occur the pleasure seekers are personally responsible. This was the case, both at Sans Souci and Ft. George.

The Hazards Of Amusement.

The latest accident occurred when a young woman entered the switchback car at the latter resort and instead of taking the precaution to securely hold tight and fast, used her hands to arrange her skirts while the car was in motion; consequently when taking one of the many dips she was unprotected against the effect of sudden jolts and was thrown violently backward. Her skirts caught on the car and she hung head downward until it was finally possible to stop the car. The owner of the structure was arrested and held for trial as being responsible for the young lady's unfortunate and distressing mode of death.

While it is a fact that inventors of amusement devices and managers thereof take every precaution to avoid accidents, there is nevertheless a duty devolving upon pleasure seekers to assist in the work of avoiding danger. We are living in a high speed era, and just as the fast express train has outgrown the prairie schooner, so has the high speed scenic railway and kindred devices outgrown the merry-go-round with grown up patrons of parks. Pleasure seekers look for sensations, and amusement purveyors, with an eye to meeting the demand are constantly providing them with methods for satisfying their cravings for thrills. Whatever element of danger may rest in the high speed amusement device, could easily be discounted if those who patronize them would look as much to their own bodily welfare as do the inventors and operators. Only a small proportion of humanity seeks from day to day an untimely death, and because a certain number of fools rock a row boat it need not follow that row boats in themselves are to be shunned. Just because a reckless person enters an amusement device and heedlessly neglects to take necessary precautions against possible dangers does not by any means make necessary a return to the merry-go-round as the sole means for providing out-of-door amusements. While the general public undoubtedly needs a rigid course of training in the matter of self-protection, it is very likely that for infinite time to come fools will keep on rocking row boats and reckless persons will continue to endanger their lives because of heedless neglect of proper precaution while indulging in many forms of amusement.

EDITORIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

OUR THEATRE LIST.

In a few weeks The Billboard will publish a complete list of One Night Stand and Repertoire Theatres in the United States and Canada, together with their seating capacities, managers and booking managers, the circuits with which they are allied, and the population of the towns in which they are located. The data has been solicited with a view to meeting the needs of the traveling managers and agents and all others whose business may necessitate a knowledge of the various houses in any particular part or in all parts of the country. The alacrity with which the house managers and agents have responded to the advertisement for data published in these columns indicates the interest with which they regard the project, as well as the large number of readers The Billboard has among them. With every mail we are receiving inquiries as to when the list will appear, and from all parts come expressions of delight that it is to be given to The Billboard's readers. As all the information is being communicated direct, and as the data is up to the minute in every detail, the list is sure to be the most valuable of its kind ever published, as it will be the most comprehensive and a boon to those who want the information it contains.

VAUDEVILLE THEATRES.

We are printing in this issue a revised and corrected list of Vaudeville Theatres, their managers and booking managers. Many changes have occurred in the control and affiliations of vaudeville theatres since this list was printed last, in April, and in its new form it constitutes the only reliable source of information open to performers, agents and all others whose best interests depend on a knowledge of the vaudeville situation as established in circuits and booking alliances. The list has, furthermore been classified by states, to facilitate the efforts of those who wish to use it for booking.

ILLUSTRATED PAGES.

A series of illustrated pages has been inaugurated representing scenes from the new and successful productions in New York and Chicago. A page depicting the Madison Square Roof attraction, Mamzelle Champagne., with which the series was initiated, appeared in The Billboard of August 4, and the Elsie Janis play, The Vanderbilt Cup, now running at the Colonial, Chicago, was represented last week. The regular series is broken this week to give space to a page showing the likeness of Edward A. Braden's stars, but our next issue will show views from Seeing New York, the summer attraction on the roof of the New York Theatre. A Brown of Harvard page will follow, and this will be succeeded in turn by scenes from another New York production. It is our purpose to continue the series throughout the season, representing a New York attraction and a Chicago attraction alternately. Managers outside of these two cities naturally feel a keen interest in the successful metropolitan productions, as they are sure to book them themselves sooner or later, and a surprisingly large percentage of them never see their plays produced before they go on their own stages.

London and Paris pages will be interpolated occasionally.

In addition to these illustrations, we shall, during the balance of the tent show season, print pages from time to time representing scenes around the principal circuses. Such a picture appeared in our last week's issue, when the John Robinson's Ten Big Shows were represented. We now have pictures to illustrate a page for The Frank A. Robbins Shows and another for the Wallace Shows. The Barnum & Bailey, Forepaugh-Sells, Hagenbeck, Sells-Floto and other shows will be pictured before the season closes. The Ringling Bros. Show was illustrated immediately after its Chicago opening last April.

The Broadway Topics page of every issue, beginning with the number of The Billboard dated August 25, will be illustrated with a familiar scene along the Rialto. The photographs have been made especially for The Billboard by Geo. P. Hall & Son, the well known photographers, who have exercised admirable judgment and discrimination in their selection of scenes, Professional people throughout the world will be interested in the views along their own "dear old Broadway."

PARK REVIEWS.

Before the nominal close of the park season we will print a detailed review of the season at Coney Island, New York, with illustrations of scenes from Luna Park, Dreamland and Brighton Beach. The same issue will contain a full page drawing in cartoon style comprising characteristics of all the big Chicago amusement parks—White City, Sans Souci and others.

FRED. MACE

(See Front Page.)

Fred. Mace, leading comedian in Harry Askin's production of the Chicago long-run record-breaker, The Umpire, though not an acrobat, made the long leap from teeth-pulling to musical comedy without a mishap and is now recognized as one of the funniest men the other side of a bright joke or a topical song.

Mr. Mace was a dentist, a physician and a representative of a tooth wash manufacturing house before he started out as a professional entertainer five years ago. Graduating from medical schools into theatrical high life is not an unprecedented occurance, as Jess Dandy, the brewer in The Prince of Pilsen, did about the same thing. The chief difference between Mr. Mace and Mr. Dandy, in the matter of careers, was the incentive which caused each to cast his fortunes with the stage. With one it was threatened poverty, with the other love, or disappointed love. Dr. Mace received his degree of doctor of dental surgery from the dental department of the Jefferson Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania in 1898, and the following year, after taking an extended course at the same school, was made an M. D. He settled in Erie, Pa., and practiced for two years and then suddenly left town. The cause—a fractured heart. But that is another story.

Mr. Mace writes: "I was building up a good practice, and I believe if I had stayed I would now have been on the high road to success. But I wanted to get away and the first thing I did was to go to Buffalo.

"I had met a manufacturer of a tooth-wash at one of our dental conventions in Philadelphia, and had written him some jingles advertising his tooth-wash, and he had offered me a position any time I wanted it. I went around to see him and he gave me a job at $40 a week. I held this a month or two, and then decided to go on the stage against the violent opposition of my mother, who argued that all the money she had spent to educate me would be thrown away. I said, 'Mother, if I don't get up in three years I'll quit the stage and start over again practicing dentistry.' She wouldn't hear to this; but I went ahead, and now she's delighted, and I am still her unmarried boy.

Mr. Mace's first engagement was with the Wilbur Opera Co. in which he had a chorus part. He then played Tweedle Punch in Florodora, and was next an understudy in The Toreador. He was seen as Mr. Pineapple in A Chinese Honeymoon, and later in Piff, Paff, Pouf. Quite a successful career, and no doubt much of the success has been due to Mr. Mace's independence, without discounting his ability in the least.

When he joined the Florodora Co. he was promised a leading part by such a time, and when the part was not coming, forthwith he left the company. He was given to understand in New York that as soon as the company reached San Francisco he would be promoted. When the company reached San Francisco somebody changed his mind about the promotion and Mr. Mace said "Good-by."

Mr. Mace has written several of the topical songs which he sings, and he devotes his leisure time to writing rhymes and songs. That's Where My Money Goes, sometimes heard in vaudeville and variety shows, is one of his pieces, which he sold for five dollars. He and another University of Pennsylvania man are the authors of Penn's Varsity song, Hurrah For the Red and Blue.

Mr. Mace talks entertainingly of college affairs, football, track, athletics and field sports. He is no dreamer. Only a practical man who has not yet acquired the habit of worshipping himself of his peculiar ability to make people laugh and swell the box-office receipts. He is not awed by the stage, and does not expect to awe any one else by greatness of manner—a most delicious and refreshing personality to find in the dressing room.

CHANNING POLLOCK MARRIED

Channing Pollock, the young playwright and press agent, surprised his many friends last week by marrying Miss Anna Marble, to whom, it is understood, he had for some time been engaged though the betrothal was never formally announced. Congratulations are pouring in upon the happy couple.

Mr. Pollock has been eminently successful, for though scarcely past his twenty-fifth birthday he has two dramatizations, two original plays and a melodrama to his credit.

HOT TIMES IN LOUISVILLE

Finding the entrance way to the Avenue Theatre, Louisville, Ky., barred by bluecoats about two thousand people that filled Fourth avenue made dire threats against the authorities and some missiles were thrown. However, it was whispered about that entrance might be gained from the rear by climbing fire escapes and going over several roofs and over six hundred people, it is said, gained entrance in this manner, making an audience of about eight hundred with those that had entered before the arrival of the police. The players gained admission through a dentist's office, but were forced to appear mostly in street clothes and with little scenery. About twenty-five people were held over for the evening performance.

It was a busy time for Manager Shaw and Treasurer Johnson Musselman, and it is intimated that some suits will follow.

AERONAUT JOHNSON KILLED

William Johnson was dashed to death at Little Falls, N. Y., Aug. 7, after a successful ascent in his big balloon. Johnson attempted to make a double parachute descent, but the ropes on the second chute broke and the contraption failed to work and the performer fell to earth in a heap. He was hurried to the hospital where he became unconscious and died very shortly, as the result of a fractured spine. Johnson began his career three years ago in Little Falls.

FRANK KENT SERIOUSLY ILL

Frank Kent, the female impersonator, is said to be lying at the point of death at Thanksgiving Hospital, Cooperstown, N. Y., suffering from the effects of a paralytic shock he sustained several weeks ago. A communication from his friends and relatives would be greatly appreciated by him.

DEATHS

Munson Cook Van Winkle.—Notice of his death appears in the Baltimore Letter in this issue.

William Hayes Evans.—Notice of his death appears in the Street Fair Department of this issue.

Frederick Shea, a brother of Thomas F. Shea, and himself quite well known to theatrical people, died in Bellevue Hospital, New York City, one day last week from physical collapse. He was taken from his home at 104 W. Fortieth street and soon after entering the hospital relapsed into a coma and remained unconscious until his death.

Edward Randall, stage electrician, was electrocuted by accidentally seizing a live wire while arranging lights at the opera house in Auburn, Ind., Aug. 6.

Mrs. Maurice Szwirschina, a well-known German player, died at Elkhart Lake, Wis., Aug. 11, at the age of seventy-six. Mrs. Szwirschina was born in Fuerstenfeld, Austria, in 1829 and for the past twenty-eight years had been a member of the various German theatre companies playing Cincinnati. In 1868 she married Filip Szwirschina and they came to this country. The husband was an actor for many years, but he now conducts a costuming store on Vine street in Cincinnati. A coincidence of her career is that her last appearance in the old country was under the management of the father of Rupert Schanid, the present manager of the German Theatre Co. in Cincinnati. Interment is to take place in Cincinnati.

James P. Wheadon, who was known to the old-time theatregoers as manager of many traveling companies, died in Chicago last week at the age of sixty-five. Alcoholism is said to have been the cause of his death. His body was found in a rooming house at 276 Indiana street. Of recent years Mr. Wheadon had been devoting most of his time to the Lyceum Lecture Bureau, occasionally embarking in the theatrical line. His last venture was the Erma Opera Co., which closed a successful season last June. Mr. Wheadon's home was in Syracuse, N. Y., where a married daughter resides.

A. L. Grant, of the firm of Cahn & Grant, who control a very considerable circuit of theatres, is dead at his summer home at Grand Beach, Me. It is not anticipated that Mr. Grant's death will occasion any change in the plans of the firm.

Caprice McDonough, known in private life as Amanda Erwin Conners, and a player of some repute over the popular priced circuits, was shot and killed at Macomb, Ill., Aug. 8, it is reported, by Edward Delaney, who afterward turned the revolved upon himself. It is intimated that a suicidal compact had been entered into. It is said that Miss McDonough was the divorced wife of a well known business man of Macomb.

An advertisement appears on another page of this issue in which it is announced that the Wallace Show wants billposters for a long season south.

Hi Henry's Minstrels opened their season Aug. 11 at South Chicago to turnaway business.

In This Issue

(Pages 36-37)

We print for the first time this season a comprehensive list of the Vaudeville Theatres, their Managers and Booking Managers throughout the country. Performers will find the list of service in booking their routes.

This is the most complete list of its kind ever published. It contains information that the performer could not acquire through his own efforts without manifold difficulties involving much annoyance and expense.

The list has been carefully revised since we published it last April, and all the changes, including those incident to the Keith-Proctor alliance, have been noted.

Preserve the List. It is Valuable.....

BUFFALO BILL ENTERS GERMANY

(Special to The Billboard.)

WE closed our ten days' engagement at Budapest, the Hungarian capital, June 25. Our success here helped us greatly upon our provincial tour. Our first stand was at Miskolcz, 115 miles from the metropolis, where we played to turnaway business.

Kassa, 26; Nugvar, 27; Munkacs, 28, and Nyiregyhaza, 29, were all good notwithstanding the fact that we were right in the midst of their harvest. Hungary is purely an agricultural country. Their methods of harvesting are primitive and a majority of the population is in the field this time of the year.

Debreczen, 30-July 1 was good and we gave three performances to big houses. At Bekesesaba, 2, Mrs. Fred Bailey Hutchinson was reminded of her birthday by the receipt of numerous handsome presents. At this place is buried Henry (Fatty) Clark, who was interred here in May, 1901, by the Tigers of the Barnum & Bailey Show. Immediately after our matinee performance a large number of our showmen repaired to the grave and held services. Speeches were made and Prof. Sweeney's Band rendered appropriate selections. To illustrate the friendly feelings that the Hungarians entertain for a stranger, I will mention the fact that Mr. Clark died just before the show's departure and one man was left behind to attend to the burial. He experienced no difficulty because it is said that five hundred school children marched in the funeral procession and natives assisted in other ways. The burial lot belongs to the Tigers and an appropriate monument has been erected over the grave. Showmen should never forget Jake Posey, a Cincinnati man, who is the father of this lodge.

Two big houses greeted us at Szentes July 3, and we celebrated the Fourth at Szeged. (John Lovely says that you must partake of at least two bottles of Budweiser to pronounce these names correctly.) The front of the show was artistically draped in tri-colored bunting. Caterer Ballard gave us a fine dinner, Sweeney's Band rendered good old Yankee airs and we almost felt as if we were at home rather than on the frontier of Europe and Asia.

At Naga-Kikinda, 5, we were only two hours from Gelgrade, Servia, and a big percentage of our audiences was Servians. The side-show opening was made in four languages—German, Hungarian, Servian and Roumanian.

Nagy-Becskerek, 6, turned out good at night. At Panscova the following night we were just across the river from Belgrade and our house was full of fashionables from the Servian capital.

Versecz, 8, and Tamas-var, 9, were only fair. The following two days we stopped at Arad.

Harry Lummins, one of the English dancers, sustained a broken leg on the 10th and we left him at Arad where he is doing nicely.

On the 13th we played Nagy-Lzeben (Hermanstadt), a big garrison town where only German is spoken. eW arrived late, but apened in time and did big business both afternoon and night.

At Schassberg-Segevar, 16, openings were made in two tongues as the city people speak German is spoken. We arrived late, but opened garian language.

Jake Platt's "stake and chain zoo" has been unfortunate lately. First, a band of gypsies stole the pet lamb, and on the 17th Dick, the pet monkey, laid down and died. He was buried at the side of wagon No. 12 and a cross bearing the following inscription was erected over the grave:

To the memory of Dick,
The pet of the show;
Though only a monkey his virtues we know:
He never complained,
Be it rain, wind or snow.
If monkeys reach heaven,
It is there he will go.

Lady Rafferty, an intelligent fox-terrier, who was his boon companion in life, was chief mourner.

At Kolosvar, 18, we were surrounded by an immense cattle market. Some of their steers are long horned and there are thousands of water buffalo similar to the Philippino caribou, which they work like oxen.

Kolosvar (Klansenburg), 19; Nagyvarad (Grobwardein), 20, and Szatmar-Nemeti, 21, were all good. At the latter place we did not arrive until 10 A. M., but opened on time. It is a Jewish city and the 21st was their Sabbath. The afternoon house was fair, but there is a big advance sale for to-night.

The weather has been extremely hot and dry all through Hungary. Though business has been good, we will all be glad when we get out of it. Everything must be done through interpreters and there is so much linguistic and political prejudice that in an endeavor to please everybody one is continually in hot water. It has indeed been a trying time and the nervous strain that Col. Cody, Manager Hutchinson and their staff have been under for the past month could scarcely be endured by men of less mental capacity. We go back to Austria at Kolomea, July 23, for three weeks and enter Germany at Zittau Aug. 15.

PYRAMUS.

Szatmar-Nerneti, Hungary, July 21, 1906.

SHOWMAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

While watching a gunsmith repair a revolver at Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 6, John Jenkins, an employe of the Pawnee Bill Wild West, was shot in the abdomen by an accidental discharge of the weapon. The show's physician attended Jenkins until the show left the city when he was removed to the hospital. It is thought he will recover. Jenkins is the son of Charles Jenkins, the iron-jawed man who died about three years ago.

WIND NEMESIS FOLLOWS PAWNEE BILL SHOW

Several employees of the Pawnee Bill Wild West were injured, a broncho was killed, and the matinee audience was thrown into a panic at Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 6.

Several women in the main tent fainted from fright and were taken to homes in the vicinity of the show grounds. As the wind blew a hurricane and the rain came in blinding sheets, the people on the seats began to stampede for shelter. Several were knocked down, a number fell from high seats in their efforts to get to the ground and others were badly squeezed in the crush, but nobody was seriously injured. Just as the people got safely away the horse tent of the circus fell with a crash and one of the bronchos was caught beneath a pole and killed. The show property was more or less considerable damaged.

It will be recalled that the Pawnee Bill Show was visited by a storm at Bayonne, N. J., July 17, when Major Gordon W. Lillie was struck by a falling tent pole and sustained a severe dislocation of one of his shoulders.

101 RANCH CELEBRATES

The Miller Brothers are going to put on another show at their 101 Ranch, near Bliss, Oklahoma. The event will take place this year, Sept. 15 and 16.

As upon a similar occasion last year, there will be an exhibition of Indians and Indian relics and workmanship. Incidentally the ranch will receive some publicity.

It is estimated that 65,000 people visited 101 Ranch last year, and it is hoped to increase the figure at the celebration of Cherokee strip in September.

WILL HELP SICK OR DISABLED

The Benevolent Order of Tom-Toms is the name of a new order that has been formed among the members of the Yankee Robinson Show, the title being in honor of Tom-Tom, the big elephant with the show. It is strictly a benevolent order. Each member pays a fee of twenty-five cents per week and this fund is given to the first person that is disabled from work by sickness or accident. The officers are J. N. Sechrest, Chief Tom; E. H. Hays, Royal Tooster; C. W. Buchanan, deacon, and Howard Webb, Little Tom.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 3, 1906.

Editor The Billboard.

Dear Sir—I wish to notify you that there is no show known as the Aiken & Anderson Show. I recently closed at Dreamland Theatre, Louisville, Ky., and came to Detroit to try to get a talking job. After a fruitless seach over the city, I spent more money in jumping to New Haven, 30; Holland, 31, and Lawton, 1, and there was no Aiken & Anderson Show to be heard of. Now I think that whoever the parties are that place that route do an injustice to troupers.

Hoping that you will give this letter your attention, I am

Yours respectfully,
C. FRANCIS KANE.

SCHEPP ISN'T MARRIED

Chas. W. Schepp, owner of Schepp's Dog, Pony & Monkey Show, wishes to deny the rumor that he is married. He also says that it is falsely reported that he has sold part of his show.

"OUR DAN"

Poetic Good-by written by Willard D. Coxey, of the Barnum & Bailey Press Department, on the resignation of Dan S. Fishell, the press representative back with the show.

They say you're goin' to leave us Dan!
I hope it isn't true;
There's nary a sail I'd hate to see
"Light out" as much as you.

It's mighty dull "ahead," sometimes,
And folks ain't always kind;
But—Gee! it helps a lot to know
You've got a friend "behind"!

You never "turned me down," Dan,
Nor registered a "kick,"
Altho' I promise "stacks o' slows"
To make my stories "stick."

And when I try to land 'em big,
And lie a little mite;
I only have to "put you wise"—
You always make it "right!"

I don't know how you do it, Dan—
I've pictures every day;
'Twas "fierce" to get the cuts before;
With you it's only play!

It might be different, Danny boy,
If you should go away;
I really need you, and I'm sure
You'd ought to try and stay.

And then I'll miss your letters, Dan,
And Mike'll miss 'em, too;
You needn't think we aren't "next"
That "Old Bill Jones" is you!

We've learned to love you, Dan, old pal,
We need your cheery face;
Your word is good, and you've a heart
That's in the proper place.

They'll get someone to do your work,
And maybe clever, too;
But still we'll always miss you, Dan—
Somehow it won't be you!

5 CENT FARE TO CONEY

The people have won out against the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. in their fight for a five cent carfare to Coney Island, based upon the recent court decision that it is illegal to exact ten cents for transportation from the Manhattan end of the bridge or from Brooklyn to the amusement city.

The victory was the outcome of a unique struggle. The officials of the B. R. T. Co. were not willing to accept Justice Gaynor's finding of last Saturday as final, and the people who visited the various parks at the island Sunday took it upon themselves to put the new order into execution. As by mutual understanding, nearly half the people returning from Coney Island Saturday night refused to pay the second five cent fare. Special police were sent to the scene by the railroad company and a riot followed. Nearly a hundred cars carrying 10,000 people were blocked all night, the passengers resisting the railroad's officers, and sleeping in their seats. Finally, Road Superintendent Mayberry paid the extra fares himself, as he could not order the cars through on the five-cent fare without a meeting of the directors of the road and their decision to accept the decree of the court. The amusement people at Coney Island are jubilant.

HAGENBECK TO TEST ORDINANCE

The Hagenbeck Show was literally held up for $100 license at Bloomington, Ill. When the management learned that there was an ordinance in Bloomington of $100 per day for unloading, parading or performing a circus in the little city, they decided to set up outside the city limits and omit the parade.

The city clerk, acting mayor in the chief official's absence on account of illness, demanded the license fee in full anyhow, and threatened to prevent the performance unless the amount was deposited. One hundred dollars was put up as bond and General Agent Fuller declared he would test the validity of the ordinance in the courts.

Developments will be recorded in these columns.

FELLOWS SUCCEEDS FISHELL

Dexter W. Fellows, who was identified with the Buffalo Bill Show before that organization went to Europe, and remained with the show during the first two years of its European tour, has been engaged by Geo. O. Starr, manager of the Barnum & Bailey Show to succeed Dan. S. Fishell, press agent back with the show, whose resignation to accept the management of the Shubert Brothers' theatre in St. Louis was chronicled in these columns last week.

The selection of Mr. Fellows is an excellent one, and further demonstrates Mr. Starr's ability to surround himself with the best talent procurable. Mr. Fellows will enter upon his duties about the 21st of this month, when Mr. Fishell retires.

MRS. NORRIS NOT DEAD

Show people will be glad to learn that the reported death of Mrs. C. I. Norris was false. It was Mr. Norris' sister-in-law who died. Mrs. Norris is now resting at her pretty home in Santa Cruz after a short tour with her husband with the Norris & Rowe Show and she is well and happy.

CIRCUS GOSSIP

Dr. H. T. Doak, formerly equestrian director and ring-master with Elsun Brothers' Show, has been in advance of that show since Miles Berry's resignation July 5. John Sanders is his head billposter.

C. P. Rock, a banker of Pawnee, Okla., joined the Pawnee Bill Wild West recently as the special guest of Major Lillie. Mr. Rock says that it is the best way in the world to see the country.

Hy Nichols writes that he will take a wild west show to the fair that is to be held at Dublin, Ireland, next year. He will strengthen his attraction with a detachment of Chinese cavalry.

Illness recently caused Miss Elizabeth Howland to close with the Creation Show with Ringling Brothers, but she plans to return to the show Sept. 1. She is recuperating at Phoenix, Ariz.

ACTORS VS. STAGE HANDS

An interesting game of baseball was played at East End Park, Memphis, Tenn., July 27, between the performers playing that park that week and the stage employes. Six innings were played and the actors won with a score of eleven to seven. The main feature seemed to be the pitching. McCue, of McCue and Cahill, was in the box for the performers, and Hach did brilliant work for the stage hands. Fine batting was done by A. H. Kherns, of Kherns and Cole, McCue, Ed. Ward and E. V. Ward, of the Ward Trio; Papinta, a brother of the dancer; Gilson, McElravy, Hach and Fisher. The performers team consisted of E. D. Ward, A. H. Kherns, E. V. Ward, Moore, Boyte, H. Ward, Papinta, C. McElravy and McCue. For the stage hands the lineup was Lewis, Gilson, F. McElravy, Carline, Lovett, Fisher, Mayberry, Snyder and Hach. J. Carter was umpire.

WILL BUILD PARKS

The H. A. Bradwell Co. of Coney Island, N. Y., has just recently been launched to build amusement parks, scenic productions and all kinds of amusement devices. The company is made up of Coney Island's leading business men.

PARK ATTRACTIONS

August 5 was a big day for Dreamland Park, Decatur, Ill., when Hamilton's Lady Band of Atwood came over for a special engagement. For the week of the 6th, Duval's high slide for life was the feature attraction.

Ed. Hayes, black-face monologuist, was held over a second week by Amusement Manager Englebreth, of Coney Island Cincinnati.

McDades' Fun Makers, presenting one act comedies and vaudeville under canvas, was especially engaged by Manager McNamara of the Auditorium, Woodland Park, Lexington, Ky., to put the week of the 6th in at the theatre, at popular prices. This troupe has been very successful in the blue grass region.

Manager Mathews has made good this season at Union Park, Dubuque, Ia., for the Union Electric and Street Car Co. Union Park represents an investment of fully $20,000. It is a lovely spot and its rustic bridges and walks and its many other natural advantages make of it a paradise.

Helen May Butler's Ladies' Military Band was the feature during its two weeks' engagement at Union Park, Dubuque, Ia. Every day was special and the crowds were enormous. The Royal Hungarian Band followed with Maud Rockwell as soloist.

B. G. Van's Lady Minstrels, carrying sixteen girls and two end men, has been a big hit at Sylvan Beach, New York. The attraction is given under a tent and W. W. Austin is making the announcements.

Hardy Short Langdon was enthusiastically received during her engagement at Dreamland Park Theatre, Decatur, Ill., recently. Her Plum Tree and her Indian songs were hits.

Laura Davis, the well known singer, opens Aug. 20 on the Melville Circuit of parks, after a few weeks' rest at her home in Mankato, Minn.

PARK NOTES

Wonderland Park, at Wichita, Kan., has inaugurated a series of special days on which the various trademen of the city are special guests. Department Store Day brought forth thousands of people and lots of praise for Manager Nuttle.

Harlem Park, at Rockford, Ill., has been doing particularly well this season and Manager Geo. C. Sackett has already set his net for novelties for the coming season.

F. C. Smith, manager of the Gayety Theatre, Springfield, Ill., has succeeded T. C. Breinig as manager of White City at Springfield for the balance of the season.

Lake Cliff Casion, Dallas, Tex., is more popular than ever, and the crowds at times are so great that it is difficult to accommodate them.

H. A. Bradwell, of Coney Island, was in Chicago last week, where he closed contracts for several scenic productions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHAT A GOOD MAN SAYS

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 7, 1906.

Editor The Billboard.

Dear Sir—Thank you and The Billboard for your words in connection with my effort to explain some of the intricacies of advertising an amusement resort, to the thousands of readers of The Billboard.

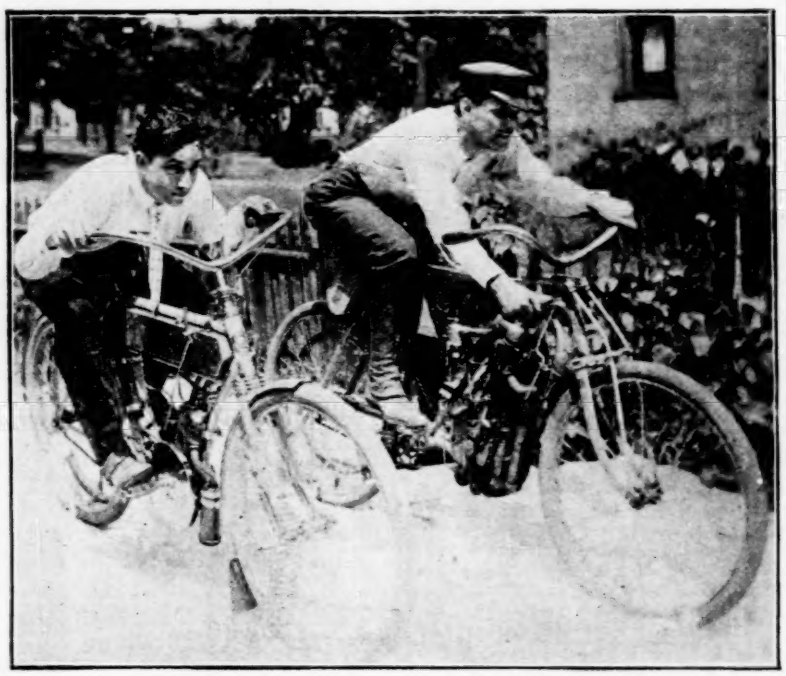
From the many compliments which I have received, both by letters and by word of mouth, I can not help but believe that practically every person in the amusement business, from the proprietor of a picnic ground to the management of the biggest tent show on earth relies upon The Billboard for reliable information in connection with their profession.

Considering the comparative youth of The Billboard and the competition which it has so admirably swept aside, I do not believe that the history of its success has a counterpart or that the representative organ of any class of people is so popular with its readers.

That the people in all branches of the amusement profession should so unanimously choose The Billboard is a wonderful tribute to the excellent judgment of the management in the selection of contents and an unqualified endorsement of its unswerving policy of always giving everybody a "Square Deal."

Yours most cordially,
FRANC R. E. WOODWARD,
Director of Publicity, Sans Souci Park.

BURKE AND EWING



The above is a good representation of Burke and Ewing, as they appear in one of their famous track events. These clever people put on one of the most dare devil motor cycle races ever dreamed of and they stand ready to meet all comers after each daily event. Although better known in the far east, their work is gaining them fame throughout the central states. During the early fall months these riders expect to smash all their records. No fair or race meet is complete without this great novelty.

CARNIVALS

HECK AMUSEMENT CO.

The Will S. Heck Amusement Co. has now been on the road for sixteen weeks and business continues fine. So far none of this company's engagements have been marred by inclement weather, and not a day has been lost. At Logansport, Ind., Aug. 6, over six thousand people visited the shows which seemed to meet with the approval of all. L. P. Smith's Military Band is furnishing an abundance of fine music and the free acts as well as the other attractions are all doing well. The shows include Dave Lachman's Fairyland with Windy Hughes in front; Cliff LaMar is doing the spieling for Heck and Black on the platform; Bucklin's Penny Arcade, McCleary's Electric Theatre, Tom Morris' Fairies in the Well, Frank Reed's Girls in Red, Willie Meredith's Devil Child, Will Augustus' Down in Dixie and Bucklin's Ferris-wheel and merry-go-round. The Aerial Meredith's, triple trapeze act; The Sam Marcos, Mexican impalement act and Dare Devil Myers in the Leap the Gap compose the free attractions.

The executive staff includes Will S. Heck, general manager; J. Geo. Loos, general agent; Will H. Augustus, train master; Frank Reed, treasurer; Al. Meredith, supt. of pike; Miss Irene Laite, local press agent; Cliff LaMar, general announcer; L. P. Smith, director of band and Harry Freeman press representative and agent.

FROM THE GREAT MUNDY SHOWS

Seven days of good business was the result of the engagement at Manitowoc, Wis., July 29-Aug. 4, when we exhibited under the auspices fo Camp Lawton Spanish-American War Veterans. Our early departure from Madison, Wis., Saturday night enabled us to reach Manitowoc early Sunday morning. In circus like fashion our wagons were immediately gotten to the grounds and by tall hustling we opened on Sunday night to good business. Arthur Holden, who was injured at Kenosha, Wis., July 4, arrived in Manitowoc during our engagement, and though he has not yet fully recovered from his injuries he is doing his hazardous feat of looping the death trap loop twice daily. During the Manitowoc engagement our feature show, the Society Circus, was jammed to capacity each night. The features in this show consist of the Stirling Trio, novelty acrobats; O'Neill and Bernardo, clowns on the revolving ladder; Hindoo Sam, presenting the mysteries of East India; Eddie Martyne, bounding wire artist; Kitchler Brothers, on the Roman rings; Jerry Alton, the up-side-down man; P. B. Kelly, ladder and acrobatic artist, and the Manole Family in acrobatic feats and physical culture demonstrations. During the Manitowoc engagement Henry B. Marks, Ruth Grey and Mock Sad Ali were welcome visitors.

STRANGERS WERE BARRED

For years past many fair followers have made an annual visit to Winnipeg, Man., Can., and there secured privileges for operating shows and concessions at the Industrial Exposition. It was never a very difficult matter to secure stands and there was always a harvest of Canadian one-dollar bills. Accordingly hundreds of American privilege people journeyed to Winnipeg this year, but they were surprised to find that they could not ply their vocation unless they could be recommended by the chief of police of Winnipeg.

Not daunted by this information the concessionaires made application to the chief of police, but his honor informed them that he did not know them and could not recommend them. Finally they called upon the United States Consul and laid the matter before him. He saw the chief, but that official remained firm, saying that he was desirous of protecting the visitors of the fair.

I feel that it is only right that visitors to all fairs should be protected, yet during my eighteen years' experience I have never known a pickpocket selling lemonade or brass badges. Furthermore, if it is necessary that each individual that follows fairs be personally acquainted with every chief of police, I fear that we will have to search for another livelihood. I sincerely feel that Americans were discriminated against at the Winnipeg Fair. A great many concessions lost heavily in the jump to Winnipeg as they had to return to the states.

I trust that this will be read and considered by all who read The Billboard, and that concessions may be benefited thereby.

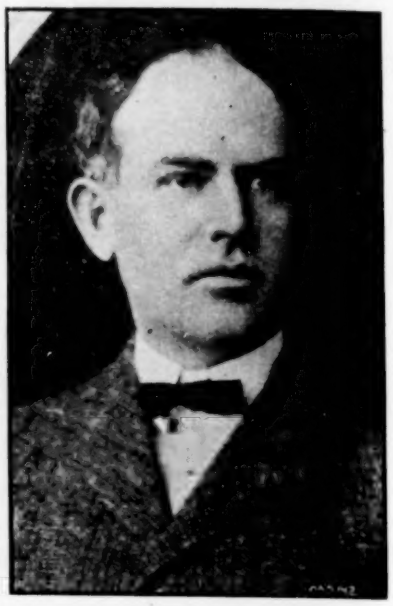
STREET FAIRS POPULAR IN MISSOURI

The Star-Leader of Humansville, Mo., and by the way one of the best papers in the old state, has this to say of street fairs:

All the Missouri towns that are not big enough for a chautauqua are going to have a street fair this fall; that is, all of them but Humansville. She does not know yet whether it is better to stir around and get a crowd here, or to let them all go to some of our neighboring towns to be entertained and to do their fall trading. The two always go together, and we could get up such a fair here as would bring the people for twenty miles in every direction to stay almost a week. Would not that mean a little something to our business people, in the fall right at the time people have money to spend? Of course, we don't believe in being stingy and grasping, but if we can not get up a fair on the simple desire to give the people a good time maybe we can get up one on a plan to sell them a whole lot of goods at the same time. Even the World's Fair was a display of merchandise as much as anything else and it would be only proper for our business people to take advantage of the occasion to make their stores as attractive as possible to share in the benefit of the advertising the town would get. A street fair is an occasion for pleasure combined with business.

GEORGE A. HARRISON



The above is an excellent likeness of George A. Harrison, assistant manager of the Kohl & Castle vaudeville theatre at White City, Chicago. For a number of years Mr. Harrison has been identified with the larger circuses, including Barnum & Bailey, Ringling Brothers and the Buffalo Bill Wild West. Kerry C. Meagher, for the past eight years treasurer of the Ringling Brothers Show, is manager of the White City vaudeville theatre and his selection of Mr. Harrison as assistant evidenced good business judgment.

BARTEL'S ANIMAL SHOW OPENS

The William Bartel Exhibition of Trained Animals opened its season at Erie, Pa., July 23. This is a new organization and consists of four open dens and six miniature cages; also a thirty-foot steel arena. The performance is given under a sixty-foot round top, with forty-foot middle pieces. The wagon front is very elaborate. A feature of the exhibition is Mme. Lewis and a troupe of lions, leopards and pumas. Others are Capt. A. Clarke and Wallace, the untamable lion, and Josh Hall and Andy, the baby elephant. Capt. Clarke is in charge of the animals, Jas. Burk is orator, William Bartel is sole owner, and Miss Neville Bartel is treasurer. Three cars are required to carry the show, which will go to New Orleans, La., soon to fill an engagement of thirty weeks.

WM. H. EVANS DEAD

William Hayes Evans, aged forty, and widely known in the show business, died at his home in Oil City, Pa., Aug. 3, of kidney trouble. For seven seasons he was contractor of the Bob Hunting Shows, and during the last twelve years had toured the United States, accompanied by his wife, with the Evans Glass Show. He was forced to retire about six months ago and go to his home to recuperate. Funeral services were held at the Good Hope Lutheran Church, where the popularity of the deceased was manifested by the profuse floral offerings. Besides his widow, a mother and two sisters survive him. Interment took place in Grove Hill, Oil City.

STREET FAIR NOTES

Notes from the C. W. Parker Amusement Co.: We have now been out ten weeks and so far have not met a "bloomer." Future bookings are mostly all maiden towns. We have been engaged to furnish attractions for the John Brown Celebration at Osawatomie, Kan., week Aug. 27, and great things are anticipated. The band with this company, under the directorship of Fred Neikirk, has been increased to twenty-four pieces, and the music is now a decided feature. Hale's Tours, Creation and a high-class vaudeville show, were added at St. Joseph, Mo., thus giving us twelve pay attractions. Dick A. Fulton, our advance man has resigned, and Geo. A. James, late of Barnes' Wild Animal Circus, is now acting in that capacity.

The Hoosier Amusement Co. continues on the road of prosperity. The following are the attractions connected with this company: The Whole Damm Family, Old Plantation, Flash, the high-diver; Dare Devil Bartell, leaping the gap; Fighting the Flames, Vendome Theatre, Kiki, the snake eater and Zella, the distinguished dancer.

The 'Frisco Fire Show, with the Brundage-Fisher Amusement Co., continues to get top money. George W. L. Willard, the popular spieler, is in front. Mr. Willard and G. C. Thornton will organize a repertoire show for the road next winter, and it will be known as the Madison Hall Dramatic Co.

Knapp and Wayland's Independent Shows opened at Jefferson, O. T., week July 30, presenting Serpentilla, Ladies Spectacular Minstrels and Henry, the Congo Midget. These shows are routed north and are playing independent carnivals and state and county fairs with big success.

Roy Cross, slack wire walker, writes: I wish to state that I am and have been with Thornton's Greater Amusement Enterprise & Carnival Co. and have been with it for the past eight weeks, and not with the Tomasso Amusement Co., as advertised by that company.

The Martines, known all over the vaudeville field as the "limber lady and the lobster," have joined Frank S. Reed's Girls in Red, with the Heck Amusement Co. Mr. Martine will make openings and his wife will do her dancing specialty with the show.

Budd Hawes favored our Chicago offices with a call Thursday, Aug. 9, while in the city visiting his daughter. Budd rejoined the Great Mundy Shows at Milwaukee, Wis., Monday, the 13th.

Geo. E. Teasdale, manager of Teasdale's Famous Glass Blowers with the Monarch Carnival Co., rejoices over the arrival at his home of a ten-pound daughter.

The Three Merediths closed with the Heck Amusement Co., at Crawfordville, Ind., and left for Columbus, Ohio, where they open at Indianola Park.

The Imperial Amusement Co. closed its season Aug. 4 at Hazelton, Pa.

EXPOSITIONS

THE PROVINCE OF LYING

With the increasing intelligence of our rural population it is becoming more essential that fair committees have due regard for the precepts of truth in making their announcements. A worthy example is being set this year by the committee on attractions of the Farmer's Fair and Festival which will be held in Durand, Mich., this month. This committee has absolutely refused to make announcements concerning the attractions to be seen at the fair until the contracts were all signed for the various features. The committee had options on several big attractions, but it absolutely refused to promulgate its engagements until the contract was down in black and white, it being the foremost object of the committee to advertise nothing except what it had positively secured for the program.

This is truly as great an advancement as has come to light in this particular branch of amusements so far this season. It is a step in the right direction and means better fairs. Should the committee of Durand carry out to the letter its good intentions, the patrons of the fair next season will have perfect confidence in the fair management. Incredulity will give way to faith and it will not cost near the amount of money to advertise the fair as has been necessary to give its publicity in the past. The practice of being truthful also makes for good in the advancement of the fair as an institution as well as an annual event.

It is a serious fact that in too many cases it has been the rule to advertise about everything and put on just about as little as possible. Under prevailing conditions in most parts of the country, if six big free acts are advertised, prospective patrons expect to see and will not be surprised if they see only two or three acts. While, under these conditions, the patron is by no means deceived, there is engendered a feeling of distrust toward the fair management. The management is henceforth regarded as a body of men to be watched and seldom believed.

Exaggeration is a prerogative of the circus business. It does not obtain with the fair. People visit the big tented exhibition for the purpose of being fooled, but they want the goods when they visit the fair. To them the circus press agent is an exalted, foreign prince that lives on ambrosia and walks with the gods—a being that possesses the prescriptive right to weave immense fabrications about the organization he represents; while he who advertises the fair is but one of the common herd—a local personage that must keep his head on earth and his pen in truth.

The old time fairs were conducted with as much honesty as were divine services. The trouble arose when the publicity promoter of the fair endeavored to usurp the prerogative of the circus press agent. Extravagant announcements brought skepticism and now they have to be shown. A a return to first principles is the present cry.

But there is honor still for the amusement committee and the press agent of the fair. In all lines of amusements press agents capable of remaining close to the virtuous pathway of truth are in demand. Even the circus courier who shuns falsehood is the one that makes good to-day. There is no injustice worked by a mild exaggeration, because it is the inherent right of every person to praise his own property and institution, but excessive exaggeration and falsehood is without the province of legitimate publicity promoting.

Zulella's Musical Comedy Co. is doing well in Michigan under the management of William Fitts, the black-face comedian.

HEAVY RAINS BUT GOOD FAIR

Heavy rains didn't keep the people away from The Virginia State Fair, nor did the unfavorable weather cause a failure as far as the big exposition was concerned. In fact, everything went off smoothly, and though the concession people did not all get all the money they could carry away they were satisfied as was the management. There were good attractions and good racing.

Prof. Hutchinson, balloonist, headed the free attractions. The Chesapeake Amusement Co. furnished the paid attractions which included C. Mayson's Old Plantation, Denlenger & Bright's Electric Theatre, Green's Museum and Washington & Hodges' Streets of Cairo. The various amusement people speak in the highest terms of the amusement committee of the fair, especially Messrs. Wrenn and Downs.

SENSATIONAL FAIR FEATURE

Miss Olive Swan and Her High-school Horse, Cupid.

THE DUBUQUE FAIR

Everybody is boosting for the Tri-State Fair that is to be held at Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 27-Sept. 1. Under the active management of Secretary D. C. Stewart and his associates, the preliminary work has all been given proper care. The three states are vying with each other in the manner of exhibits. Entries are all in. The Burning of Moscow will be the big attraction.

WILL BE CLOSED ON SUNDAY

The Jamestown Exposition is not to be open on Sundays. An agreement to this effect will shortly be entered into with the United States Government and the Exposition will be presented with $250,000 to help defray the expenses of the big enterprise.

FAIR NOTES

By offering a liberal premium list and plenty of attractions the Travis County Fair Association, which was organized at Austin, Tex., in April, hopes to establish a record between Sept. 12 and 15. President H. H. Shapard and Secretary Robt. Barker are working hard to make of the premier event a big success.

The Old Settlers of Neosha County, Kansas, will gather at St. Paul, Kan., the last week in August for their tenth annual reunion. This is considered one of the biggest gatherings of its kind held in Kansas, and the attendance is always large. Special railroad rates have been secured and an effort will be made to make this the greatest of all previous gatherings.

The Iowa State Fair management will go in heavy on its vaudeville attractions this year. Among the features already booked are: Miller's Performing Elephants, Allison Troupe of Acrobats, Castellane and Volo in the Double Gap of Death, Four Casting Pickards, Buckeye Trio of burlesque acrobats, the Pekin Zouaves and Martinette and Sylvester.

The Quigg Brothers, cyclists, are now in their ninth week playing the fairs. At Fargo, N. D., Mack Quigg was nearly killed owing to an accident in the Cage of Death, and Carl H. Quigg had a bad fall at Winnipeg, Can., during the recent exposition there. The Quiggs are playing all the big fairs and are making good.

Work on the new fair grounds at Wichita, Kan., is being rapidly pushed. They are located within ten minutes walk from the center of the city and with the excellent financial backing assured, they should be a great success.

The Fayette County Free Fair Association, Connersville, Ind., has started a popular voting contest to decide who will be Queen of the free fair. Votes are one cent each and many candidates have been named.

Thomas J. Livermore, of Boston, has been chosen chairman of the Jamestown Exposition Commission by Governor Guild, to succeed Henry T. Higginson, who resigned because he intends to travel abroad.

Through the courtesy of the Illinois State Fair Association, Sousa and his band will spend Oct. 6 in Decatur, Ill., the home of Miss Jeanette Powers, soloist with Mr. Sousa.

Mahomet, Ill., people are getting ready for the Great Mahomet Corn Carnival, which promises to be the stellar event in the history of that town.

Francis R. Stewart, manager of the Infant Incubator Co., was in Hot Springs, Ark., recently, and secured a concession at the Arkansas State Fair.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

YE SECOND SIGHT ARTISTS

Danville, Ill., July 27, 1906.

Editor The Billboard.

Dear Sir—I notice an article in the vaudeville columns of The Billboard to the effect that "second sight artists had better look to their laurels," and mentioning one Madam Grace Cortland, who reads communications without the "aid of carbon or confederates." Now, I wish to state that Mme. Cortland is "not the only pebble on the beach." We are the only team in this world that will give an exhibition of Real Second Sight. We allow the audience to ask the questions without the aid of confederates. Any article presented to Mr. Albene will be fully described by Miss LaBrant, who is blindfolded upon the stage.

We will put up $1,000 in the hands of the editor of The Billboard that we will positively duplicate any one of her seances and will arrange the contest in the presence of the editors of all the papers in Cincinnati. Miss LaBrant will read, if it is necessary, a thousand envelopes, that have been burned by strangers. I am sure that Mme. Cortland will stand without being tied, as we will challenge the world with our act.

Yours very respectfully,

PRINCE ALBENE AND MISS LaBRANT,
Care of The Billboard.

The Lyceum Theatre, Wilmington, Del., opened its season Aug. 6, under the management of Daniel Humphries, who has greatly improved the house this summer. The shows booked for August are Young Buffalo, 6-8; At Cripple Creek, 9-11; Gambler of the West, 13-15; The Curse of Drink, 16-18; The Man of Her Choice, 20-22; The Bad Man From Mexico, 23-25; Child of the Regiment, 27-29, and Queen of the Highbinders, 30-Sept. 1.

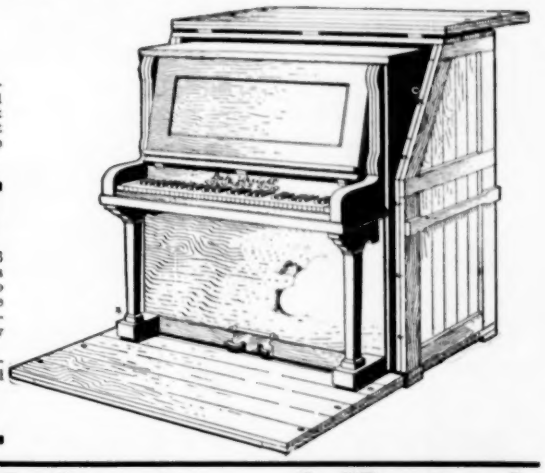
Carry Your Own Piano

And Feel Sure of Your Act

Traveling Shows and Orchestras, Vaudeville and Concert Hall Artists

Know from experience how frequently the pianos furnished by halls and theatres are unreliable and unsatisfactory. You rarely, if ever, get the same kind of piano two stands in succession.. While at one place the instrument you get may be all right, the next two or three may be all wrong—out of pitch, out tune, rattly," etc., etc. The only way to avoid this, and to always feel free from worry on this score, is to carry your own

COLUMBUS BABY UPRIGHT



This wonderful little instrument, although only 3 ft. 9 in. high and 3 ft. 6 in. wide, has a remarkable piano volume and a clear, sweet tone. It is tuned to concert pitch, making it especially suited for accompaniment to the human voice. The weight is only 250 pounds, and two men can handle one easily, especially when carried in our quick-packing traveling case, illustrated at the right. The piano is a drawing card in itself and the low price places it within easy reach.

SPECIAL OFFER.—The regular price is $100, but we are making a special offer, including a stool and the quick-packing traveling case mentioned above. Write at once to the factory for Booklet No. 40.

Castorland, N. Y., Aug., 7, '06

Have given your Baby Upright a thorough test. It is a perfect success and a good drawing card—the show would not be complete without it. I heartily recommend it and consider my money well invested.

THE WORLD'S CHAMPION BALLOONIST

And PARACHUTE JUMPER, PROF. BONANSINGA,

Was Chief of the Balloon Corps, 17th Division U. S. Army, in the Santiago campaign, during the late Spanish Ameridan war, and carries several valuable medals for work in the regular service. I am the originator of the expression—"Dare Devil" as applied to aeronauts.

At a recent engagement in Dixon, Ill., was made the recipient of a voluntary testimonial for my work, which in brief states: "He made an ascension here in the afternoon in a heavy rainstorm, and in the evening made a fine fire works display. Without doubt, both of these ascensions have never been equaled in this part of the State. We take pleasure in recommending him as a first class aeronaut."

MAKING GOOD EVERYWHERE

YOU realize the success of the LAUGHING GALLERY at the Summer Parks. Maybe you have thought of its possibilities as a traveling attraction but have given up the idea on account of the enormous cost of the glass mirrors, as well as the great weight and risk of breakage

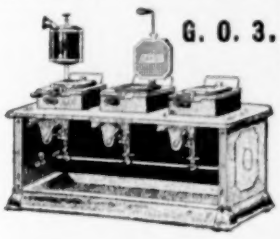
OUR METAL MIRRORS HAVE SOLVED the PROBLEM

Inexpensive, light in weight, easily handled. Made of a highly polished composition metal that cannot rust and is wonderfully durable. Have same appearance, produce same effects, and will answer the purpose as well as the most costly glass. Increase of sales has enabled us to sell better mirrors for less money than ever before. Write now. Don't delay.

J. M. NAUGHTON, Amusement Construction Company,
120 S. High Street, Columbus, Ohio.

THE SELF-VENDING CONE---THE SAYSO.

Just stamp this one fact upon the tablets of your most gracious memory—in other words, burn it into your "cupola" that if you make the Fairs you will have to vend. When you face from ten to twenty thousand people, each one straining every nerve to see the bang-tails canter, you will have to go to them—they wont take the time to look up your booth. You can't vend the sickly thin cones made on some of the so-called ovens, neither do you want to look like a two spot carting around an ice cream freezer—not in a thousand What you want is a Sayso Oven or the Cupolas on which you can make the thick, four-ply cones that will stand up ordidarily for from one-half to three-quarters of an hour and still be crisp and dainty. Besides I tell you of a little stunt that will still further increase the vending qualities of the Sayso Cones and will make them inviting and seductive. My check scheme for handling venders at big gatherings is worth money to you but it costs nothing with an outfit. See the three burner, three iron gasoline oven at the left? You can bake and make from 255 to 300 cones or pyramids per hour on this outfit and it will cost you only $29.00; the two iron oven, proportionate capacity, $21.00; one iron, $12.00.



G. O. 3.

CUPOLAS SEPARATE.

They operate perfectly over any gas, gasoline, or oil stove or charcoal pan. Each iron will produce from 85 to 100 cones per hour. Prices—Three $19.50; two, $14.50; one, $8.50. An ice cream dipper, a ladle for the batter, a cone shaper, a pyramid form, 16 assorted window signs, a large two-color banner and a copy of my $5.60 book which lays bare the whole process of making and marketing cones, pyramids and kindred products—are a few of the things I include with every order.

TERMS: Half cash, balance C. O. D.

The "Comebacks" are absolutely the best cone ovens made. We are sending them everywhere. They make the 10c. cones as well as the 5c size. Moulds are 8 inches in diameter. The "Comeback" is STANDARD, a finished product. 1. Oven moulds are band-lathe turned and machine polished. 2. Ovens are thick enough to retain the heat for crystallization. 3. Ovens are accurately made, register exactly, have perfect baking qualities. Notice—The removable steel brace which serves as a rest absolutely prevents oven falling over. The "Comeback' Ovens are getting the money everywhere. Those making the Fairs write for our Agents' Side Line Proposition.

SINGLE OVEN, $8.50. TWO, $14.50. THREE, $19.50.

On account of high quality we send these ovens on receipt of $2.00, balance C. O. D.

"Comeback" Cone Carrier

FREE WITH EVERY ORDER—The Genuine World's Fair Secret Formula for making the cone batter; also recipes for Cone Sundaes, Charlotte Russe and other novelties; our booklet concerning "Fairs:" the securing and handling concessions; also advertising matter, illustrated dodgers, hangers, and large beautiful waterproof cone banners in colors, worth to you several dollars. Remember there is only one TARBELL manufacturing Cone Ovens. You probably met him at the World's Fair, where the new cone confection had its origin. Remember if you get a TARBELL OVEN, you get an oven that is RIGHT. An oven seems a simple thing. However, THINK HARD, READER. If the moulds are not planed accurately, if they do not registsr you CAN'T get an even thickness of batter on the irons. Uniform cooking will be impossible. The TARBELL "COMEBACK" OVENS are the ACME OF PERFECTION. With three 'Comebacks" a man can easily turn out from 250 to 300 cones per hour, or 2,000 per day. At fairs, resorts, etc., 2000 cones can be sold a day—4 cents clear profit on each 5 cent cone, or $80 clear profit from 2000 cones. Think of it!

COME ON BOYS.

Ten daily passenger trains and three ten-coach excursions will bring the crowds to the Fifth Annual Fair at Oran, Mo. The wheat and watermelon crops were extra good this year, and every farmer you meet, if he only has one gallus and baggy trousers, stand him on his head and money will rain out of his pockets. We selected August 22-25 for our fair this year because it is at a time that will be warm; no beer will be sold on the grounds and juice men will simply be in clover here. I want to hear from privilege people of every kind. No exclusives sold, excepting Steam Swing, Ferris Wheel and Snakes. Would like to hear from some good repertoire company, carrying a band. Could book you in the Opera House, and use your band on the fair grounds to good advantage. All correspondence answered where stamp is enclosed.

The cleverest ball game ever offered. Each hole leads to a chute that runs down to hen. Throw a ball into a hole, it runs through chute and drops from hen as though she were laying an egg. The crowd roars, and you rake in the nickels. Three balls for a nickel and a hard boiled egg for the ones which make the hens lay. Big winner at fairs. DATES CHANGED
FOR ALAMANCE GREATER FAIR.

The dates for this HOT ONE have been changed from Oct. 9th-12th, to OCTOBER 2, 3, 4 and 5, '06.
DON'T FORGET, OCTOBER SECOND, THIRD, FOURTH AND FIFTH.
This change has been made as we have Twenty-eight Cotton Mill Villages in our County, and the owners prefer to stop TWO DAYS for our fair on the week of the last named dates, rather than shut down ONE DAY on the old dates. These people all have money and they are the gamest spenders you ever saw. COME TO THE HOT ONE.

1906 MODEL

Automatic Parisian Ice Cream Cone Ovens

SWEEPING THE COUNTRY FROM COAST TO COAST.

WHY? BECAUSE—No more measuring out batter; no more burning fingers; no more rolling cones; no more cones of all sizes, shapes and thickness—does away with disagreeable method of shaping the cones on the hot irons and holding them in the hands until sufficiently crystallized to turn loose. No opening up nor flattening out.

HOW? Dip cone in batter, insert in oven and PRESTO, out comes a true cone ready for use. OTHER REASONS—Positively cooks cones crisp and brown. Built scientific. Requires only ½ amount of batter needed to make a cone in the old way. This item alone in a season will pay for several ovens and go a long way towards paying for your privileges. Sample Cone, 5c or 10c; cone can be made by simply inserting cone in batter the proper depth. The ice cream cone industry is too big a bonanza to hang back on a few paltry dollars. Buy an up-to-date outfit and get in on the big money that is made this season. Write for Catalogue

WARNING—We are inventors and sole manufacturers of these Automatic Ovens—we have complied with all the requirements of law; and we warn the public these ovens are only sold by us and our authorized agents.

LATONIA RACE TRACK, CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 1, '06.

Gentlemen:—The three Automatic Cone Ovens are giving fine satisfaction and make beautiful, crisp Cones. A 13-year-old boy operates them without trouble. Would not take $50 for the Ovens if we could not replace. They are far ahead of the old flat style ovens, and we have thrown away our flat ovens as useless. Yours sincerely, MR. AND MRS. C. WAGNER.

SYLVAN BEACH, N. Y., July 25, '06.

Dear Sirs:—We have seen three makes of flat machines, and consider your Automatic Oven far the best. We are succeeding beyond expectation and are making beautiful Cones. Yours truly, GRAHAM & HIBBARD.

YOU CANE RACK MEN

Buy Your Canes Direct From Factory

AND MAKE THE JOBBER'S PROFIT YOURSELF.

A wide awake Streetman can easily be taught a good thing. We noticed that, for since we announced that we manufacture our own canes, every cane-rack man within "knowledge" took a tumble and sent us an order. Naturally, everyone on receiving our canes was fairly "tickled to death", so to speak, with the quality of the new finish we put on and the general high grade make-up of our canes. The result of this is duplicate orders from every one who had a trial. We are now turning out in our factory, and all these go to cane-rack men who are now doing a larger and more successful business because they handle our attractive, high grade, piano finish canes.

500 DOZEN CANES PER DAY

SPECIAL NOTICE

NO C. O. D. ORDERS ARE SHIPPED WITHOUT A SUFFICIENT DEPOSIT.

When ordering by wire, have Express Agent telegraph the order, guaranteeing charges at the same time. These are the only conditions on which shipments can be made, and by complying with same, you will save yourself disappointment.
